

C. OF C. ACTIVITIES TO BE FIXED

Members Asked What They Desire Body to Undertake.

SECRETARY IS NOT NAMED

Appointment May Be Taken Up Early This Week.

What is the first thing the re-organized Chamber of Commerce should do for the betterment of Lima? What is the first thing you want it to do to help you and your business?

These are two questions contained in a questionnaire mailed out to all members, both old and new. Saturday, commencing the work of the rejuvenated chamber on the principles inculcated by Congressman Reed during his two weeks campaign.

Read declared that from the answers of 1,200 members there will be five or six excellent projects for the good of the city which will stand out above all others. He said it is possible in many cases to work out all these recommendations.

REED WILL SPEAK

Before leaving Lima, Reed, will speak to an assembly of workmen representing the various industries of the city at Central high school auditorium Sunday at 4 o'clock. He will explain the duties of a chamber of commerce in a city.

Secretary Lincoln declared Saturday enthusiasm among workers has reached a very high pitch since the beginning of the campaign. Copies of the constitution have been distributed among the shops of the Garford Motor Truck Co., and other plants, to be studied by the workmen. Committees have been appointed in practically all the industrial plants of the city to create enthusiasm and secure a large attendance at the meeting Sunday. Chamber of Commerce officials predict the auditorium will not hold the turnout. In addition to an address by Congressman Reed, a moving picture intended to arouse civic pride will be shown.

Secretary Lincoln announced Saturday the forum luncheons are to be resumed at once and will be held every week. Lincoln said that luncheons will probably be held in the Knights of Columbus hall, it being practically the only hall in the city large enough to hold the number expected to attend.

SECRETARY NOT NAMED

President George Baily declared Saturday no action had been taken by the board of directors toward a selection of a successor to the present secretary, Irving B. Lincoln, whose contract expires November 1. Baily admitted that Congressman Daniel A. Reed, who had charge of the present membership campaign has been asked to make recommendations. These he said, would be given consideration among other applicants.

Congressman Reed declared he will have to make inquiries before making a recommendation. "There are many chambers of commerce secretaries who would come up to the specifications required, but these men are usually hard to get," Reed declared. He said he would rather make no recommendation at all than recommend a man who if selected could not carry on the work of the Chamber of Commerce as it should be.

It was intimated among the directors of the chamber that the question may be taken up early this week, as there is now less than 30 days until the contract of the present secretary expires.

L. E. Ludwig goes to Kenton, today, to address an assembly on the occasion of the annual memorial services for the deceased members of the Moose Lodge, at 1 p. m.

HARPER STILES, FOREMOST WAYNESFIELD CITIZEN IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Harper Stiles, one of the foremost citizens of Waynesfield died at his home in that village Saturday morning at 6:30 o'clock, following a lingering illness from cancer. Following his retirement from agricultural activities several years ago, Mr. Stiles took up his residence in Waynesfield where he has since made his home.

He was one of the most prominent members of the Waynesfield community, and was highly respected in that vicinity. The deceased was 68 years of age. Surviving children are C. E. Stiles and Mrs. Bertha Sellers, Lima; Mrs. Lulu Jacobs, Spencerville; and C. H. Stiles, Waynesfield.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Church of God, Waynesfield. Interment will take place in Fairmount cemetery.

DONAHEY TO VISIT THIS COUNTY

To Make Speaking Tour of This Part of Ohio Soon

HON. A. V. DONAHEY
Democratic Candidate for Governor of Ohio to Visit Allen-co soon

That Hon. A. V. Donahey, Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio, will tour Allen-co in a speaking campaign soon, was assured Saturday, when L. E. Ludwig, President of the Allen-co Cox club, was notified from state Democratic headquarters at Columbus that dates for county tours are being arranged for Mr. Donahey, to include a tour of Allen-co, to visit the principal points.

The date of Mr. Donahey's coming into Allen-co for a speaking campaign has not been announced, but will be made known soon, in ample time for due notice to be given those of the electorate of this unit of the commonwealth of Ohio who may wish to hear the message that will be brought to them by the man who, as Auditor of Ohio, saved the state half a million dollars by rejecting padded bills and ferreting out wrongful claims made by conscienceless persons who wished to fatten their own purses at the expense of the people of Ohio. A. V. Donahey has well earned the title of "Watchdog of the Ohio Treasury."

Donahey holds that the "vital issues of this campaign are morality and economics." On those issues he is attacking the record of his opponent, Harry L. Davis, as mayor of Cleveland, and pointing out the alleged inactivity of Davis in the fight to defeat the property classification amendment as "refutation of Davis' promises that 'he will do as much for the farmers if elected to be Governor'."

Donahey claims that Davis did not lift his voice to help the farmers and home owners of Ohio in their fight to defeat the classification amendment in 1919.

MANY CASES FOR INVESTIGATION

Grand Jury to Convene Monday for Crime Probe.

VARIED ARRAY OF CHARGES

Flannigan Killing Principal Case for Jury Inquiry.

When the Allen-co grand jury convenes Monday, it will have before it, for investigation, a wider range of important cases of every description than have come before any similar body in months.

Principal among these is the shooting of Melvin Flannigan by Patrolman John E. Goebel, a week ago Friday, which meant the life of Flannigan.

The alleged bribery case, involving Lewis Morphis, Toledo, private detective, prominent politician and nominee for sheriff of Lucas-co, is another of wide interest. The investigation of charges of a statutory offense, made against Thomas Coppus, Toledo, is also of interest, because the bribery charges against Morphis grew out of the Coppus case.

In line with the proposed declaration of Prosecutor Cable to put an end to the theft of automobiles in Allen-co, charges of auto stealing against five persons will be investigated. They are Walter Wilhelm and Carl Kepner, for alleged theft of an automobile belonging to Theodore G. Harris and John Morris and William Pifer, charged with stealing an automobile belonging to Seward Polson and of Frank McKenny, charges of like offense committed against Miles Standish.

Another case of interest is that of Harold Mooney, employee of the Lima Loan company, Opera House block, who is charged with having embezzled money, less than $100, from his employer, M. Blumberg.

Other cases which will come before the grand jury for investigation are: State against Mack Montgomery, forging a check for $21 on Thomas Duffield.

State against Milton Kugelmann, trespassing on property of Alma Donaldson.

State against Milton Kugelmann, swearing.

State against Arthur Ward, larceny, stealing a revolver of the value of $8 from Frank Krieger.

State against Philip S. Wingate, larceny, stealing 2250 pounds of hay, valued at $39.40, property of L. C. Clark, 173 N. Central-ave.

State against Philip S. Wingate, larceny, charge stealing 35.5 pounds of baled hay, value of $7.35, property of L. C. Clark.

State against Elita Wharton, slandering against Ida Gallaway.

State against George Winston, entering inhabited dwelling and stealing property of Carl Matthie.

State against B. F. James, obtaining money under false pretenses, $100 from Morris Bros.

State against Richard Thompson, burglary of I. N. Pauley store-room.

State against Asa Hill, entering inhabited dwelling of Carl Matthie and stealing $2.

State against Z. Bedford, receiving stolen property, belonging to Ohio Steel foundry company, value $85.

State against Carl Dowdhour, alias Fred Wagner, breaking into store, of Moskin Bros.

State against Fred Pierson, larceny of $40 from V. Carlos.

State against Charles Galladay, alias Ed. White, forgery of name of C. C. Edwards and A. B. King.

State against Harry White, non-support of wife, Hazel White.

State against Mr. and Mrs. William Rubner, breach of peace.

State against Lena Scholtz, slandering Catherine Brittenette.

State against Roy A. Hastings, perjury, resulting from case in common pleas court.

State against Clarence and Edward Spornhauer, non-support of mother, Anna Spornhauer.

State against Herbert Anspach, perjury resulting from common pleas court case.

State against George R. Bentz, assault and battery upon Frank Murphy.

State against Ida Biecount, removing mortgaged goods.

Members of the grand jury include Walter John Koffman, A. H. Joberts, A. T. Meehling, H. W. Naylor, R. K. Simmons, George C. Metzger, Stanley D. Vorhees, George Eherman, Charles H. Black, W. L. Ransbottom, John Rex, Harley J. Fast and George Herring, all of Lima; Joseph Bonifas, Mariou-tp; E. T. Hall, Lafayette.

$350,000 FOR NEW ADDITIONS

Extension Started at Plant of Lima Locomotive Works.

The construction of a large addition to the Lima Locomotive Works, started several months ago by the James Stewart and Co., building contractors, New York, was completed last week. The extension consists of 200 additional feet to the present hammer shop, which is now being occupied by the blacksmith department.

The same contractors have started work on an 80-foot extension to the old blacksmith shop and this building when completed will be used for the construction of tenders and tanks. The tender and tank department will be moved from the present tank department to the reconstructed smith shop. The Shay locomotive department will occupy the present tank shops.

W. L. Reed, vice president of the Lima locomotive works states that the proposed new department will provide better and more efficient quarters and facilities for the manufacture of the Shay Locomotives and repair parts. These improvements will be completed before the first of the year, and the entire cost of the additions will be approximately $350,000.

TRUBEY CHANGES DEBATE PLAN

Submits Question in New Form to Cox Club President

LUDWIG ACCEPTS PROFFER

Democratic and Republican Committees to Arrange Details

That L. E. Ludwig, President of the Allen-co Cox club, is unafraid to debate with R. R. Trubey, President of the Allen-co Harding club, on any subject affecting the relative merits of the Democratic and Republican parties, is evidenced by the text of a letter mailed to Mr. Trubey Saturday by Mr. Ludwig, accepting the proffer of an opportunity to debate on a question other than the one suggested Thursday by Mr. Ludwig, after Mr. Trubey had several times verbally offered a debate challenge.

Mr. Ludwig submitted the following question for debate, he to take the affirmative and Mr. Trubey or other person who has been a resident of the county one year or more to take the negative: "Resolved, That the United States of America shall forthwith enter the League of Nations, as it is now constituted."

"I will debate with you or anyone whom you or the Allen-co Republican executive committee shall designate the following question, as suggested in your letter: 'Resolved, That it will be for the best interests of the United States of America to elect at the coming November election a Democratic President and a Democratic Congress.'"

Mr. Ludwig said in a letter addressed to Mr. Trubey Saturday: "On this question," Mr. Ludwig further stated, "I will take the affirmative. I will expect to open and close the discussion in accordance with the custom in all former discussions. It is agreeable to me for the Republican executive committee of Allen-co and the Democratic executive committee of Allen-co to make the necessary arrangements. However, I hope that no one to whom it may fall to have a share in making these arrangements will be so exacting as to details that it will make impossible the holding of the debate before the November election."

TRUBEY'S POSITION

"You have placed your own interpretation on my challenge to you," Mr. Trubey stated in a letter addressed to Mr. Ludwig, date of October 2, in reply to Mr. Ludwig's formal challenge, "for a public debate, which in effect was that the best interests of this country would be subserved by the election of a Republican President and a Republican Congress, for thereby the Senate would never ratify the Wilson League of Nations."

"To a certainty, the public is seeking information on the issues joined in this campaign, one of which is whether we shall enter or stay out of the Wilson League of Nations. Perhaps this latter is the most important but other prominent issues are material and of vital importance.

"You may, if you desire to really accept my challenge, state the substance of it in your own way, which must necessarily be to the effect that the best interests of this country will be served and advanced by the election of a Democratic President and a Democratic Congress, for it is and a Democratic Congress, for it is the converse of this proposition that I have offered to affirm in debate with you. I would take the negative of such proposition and join you in debate or furnish a champion therefor, resident of Allen-co, but the date and arrangements for such a debate must be made jointly by the Republican executive committee and the Democratic executive committee for Allen-co."

"If you do not care to join me in having the Republican and Democratic committees for this county arrange a joint debate on the issues joined in this campaign, which I have at all times proposed, then to my mind it is clear, certain and conclusive proof that you are afraid to have the electorate of Allen-co discuss the record of the Democratic party for the last eight years, which includes its attitude on the Wilson League of Nations."

THREE SPEAKERS HERE MONDAY

Women Particularly Invited to Attend Memorial Hall Meeting

Memorial Hall is expected to witness an unusually large assembly of men and women Monday afternoon, for the Democratic rally, opening at 2 o'clock, when the officers of the county committees and the Cox club will present a trio of speakers, all of whom will have a message of the greatest importance for the voters of Lima and Allen-co.

Women should be particularly interested in this event for the reason that an address is to be delivered by Mrs. Izetta Jewel Brown, one of the most prominent women before the San Francisco Democratic national convention. Mrs. Brown seconded the nomination of John W. Davis for nomination for the Presidency and made a wonderful impression upon the delegates. It is a real treat to hear Mrs. Brown.

Hon. W. B. Wilson, secretary of labor, will also be on the speaking program and will have a message of import for his hearers. W. A. Julian, candidate for United States Senator, will make his first address in Lima Monday afternoon. These three speakers assure a program of addresses on the issues of the day that should interest everyone. Women particularly are invited to be present.

Mrs. Brown will arrive in Lima at noon Monday, according to a telegram received Saturday. Mr. Wilson will arrive at about the same hour.

Harry O'Connor will be the chairman of the meeting. Mrs. Brown will be presented by Mrs. Kent W. Hughes.

DIAMONDS VALUED AT $6,000 FOUND

Police Say Attendant at Party Admits the Theft.

HIDDEN IN VARIOUS PLACES

Bricklayer Will Be Given Hearing Here Monday.

Nicholas Miller, a bricklayer employed on the Collett-st sewer, arrested charged with a $6,000 diamond theft from the home of Mrs. Rose T. O'Connor, 523 W. High-st, made a complete confession Saturday, Chief of Police Roush announced Saturday night. He will be given a hearing in criminal court Monday morning.

Miller, who gives his address as 7332 Green-st, Chicago, and Edward Joyce, were arrested by Plainclothesmen Crisberry and Kipker on suspicion, after they had been questioned after attending a party given at the O'Connor home last Tuesday night.

The diamonds, six of them set in four rings, three of them solitaires, and one a cluster of the three diamonds, and a wrist watch valued at $50 were found by police.

Chief of Police Roush declared Miller admitted taking the rings from an upstairs room at the O'Connor residence, while other members of the party were engaged in a card game on the first floor.

RINGS ARE HIDDEN

According to his confession to police, Roush said, Miller carried the rings and watch in his trousers pocket after he left the party. Early Wednesday morning before he went to work he said he had them in a man-hole in a S. Central-ave sewer. The manhole, he said, is located about 20 feet south of the Central-ave bridge over the Ottawa river. He said they remained on a shelf in the sewer all day Wednesday.

"Where did you take the diamonds from there?", asked Chief Roush. "I hid them in a blacksmith shop near Collett-st," he replied. "I went to the sewer Wednesday evening and got them from a shelf in the sewer and took them to the blacksmith shop." The blacksmith shop referred to, Chief Roush said is one used in connection with the construction of the Collett-st sewer.

Joyce, the other man arrested on suspicion when Miller had made his confession.

HAS SMALL CHILD

Miller told police he has a 20 months old baby and a mother in Chicago to support. He has been employed in sewer work here for past two months, and has made his home at the Knights of Columbus building.

Chief Roush said the robbery was reported to police early Wednesday morning, when the rings and watch were missed from the O'Connor home.

TULLY INVADES FOREIGN THEATRICAL FIELDS

—BY FREDERICK SCHRADER—

NEW YORK—A short paragraph in the corner of the paper devoted to theatrical news announces that "Richard Walton Tully sails today to start his English companies on tour with 'The Bird of Paradise,' attend the opening of that play in Paris, present in London during the winter 'Omar the Tentmaker' and 'Keep her Smiling,' and complete a new comedy for New York production next spring."

The item is interesting because it epitomizes the career of a fast western hustler who is his own playwright, producer and financier, and who came to New York a dozen years or so ago under the overshadowing aegis of the great Belasco as the latter's collaborator in "The Rose of the Rancho"; it was, by the way, Frances Starr's first starring vehicle under Belasco's management.

He had secured a production of the play in his native California. It had a remarkable run for that section. As it dealt with early California its success was in part supposed to be due to local conditions. Tully was fresh from a farm; he had attended college, developed a taste for literature, married a young fellow-student who had gained some fame as the author of a book and later repeated her success with her "Poor Little Rich Girl" as a playwright, and pooling their revenues bought a farm.

Farm life has made an indelible impression on Tully. He never acquired the New York habit of parading his prosperity and doesn't know the address of a single Fifth Avenue tailor. He always remained what he was when he reached New York about 1907 and sat in patient isolation by the side of his wife in the shadows of the former Belasco theatre to watch, unobserved and unconsulted, the rehearsal of his play for its metropolitan production.

That collaboration netted him nothing but the regular royalties, which he divided with Belasco, but it spurred him on to greater effort. Tully did not care for the trappings of fame. He kept mainly to himself, always with his eye on success. Obstacles meant nothing to him. A few who knew him liked him, because he seemed one of the kind who scorned to take on the sophisticated veneer of the Rialto and wear their derby cocked on one ear. When he disappeared he was promptly forgotten. His appearance on Broadway was taken to have been a fluke of luck. He couldn't repeat. But suddenly Tully came back.

His new play, "The Bird of Paradise," a stupendous scenic production, opened on Broadway with Laurette Taylor in the leading role. The play was a romantic affair of the 18th dimension, but the unsophisticated Tully had learned a few tricks from Belasco. That was to impart atmosphere to his creation. "The Bird of Paradise" wasn't a tremendous success from a financial standpoint; it was too expensive; and again Tully, after a while disappeared, and several years elapsed before he was again seen by his friends.

When he did come back it was as his own manager and producer of "Omar the Tentmaker," another tremendous production involving an expenditure of a fortune for scenery and costumes. He had meanwhile bought all rights to "The Bird of Paradise" and coined money producing it all over the United States. The play is rated as one of the greatest money-makers on record ranking alongside of such reliable revenue-producers as "Way Down East" and "Ben Hur." Today Tully is accounted one of the wealthiest of managers, and individually apart from the fictitious, make-believe life of theatrical Broadway, a sane optimist with the true vision of a North Pole discoverer and with the necessary courage to invade hide-bound London and cynical Paris with a cargo of real American goods. No manager within this scribe's ken would take the chance of going into Paris with an American play. It is too much like challenging fate. But time and again Tully has won where others failed.

The first news will probably be unfavorable, as it will epitomize the critical opinion of the town. Paris worships its own gods and is not looking for American-made deities. But the crowds of the boulevards will probably not be moved by chauvinist prejudices, and having seen a good deal of American actors may want to know a little more about the intellectuals of the land where the dollar comes from. And the nifty Californian will be Johnny on the spot.

William Hodge is appearing at the Broadhurst Theatre in "The Guest of Honor." The play is of his own making. Accordingly it may be taken as a true index of what sort of a character he thinks he is best fitted to play. It is an actor's play with all the mechanics of actor-wrought figures and situations. Notable actor-playwrights are conspicuously rare. To most of them life is what it appears on the stage. And "The Guest of Honor" is a stage play.

Hodge has chosen to picture himself as a down-and-out hero of a cheerful philosophy. He is a back writer, living in a garret on which he owes several months' rent. Not content with doing for himself, he provides for a half-blind ex-journalist and is bringing up a child which calls him "daddy." As a theatrical device, this tender relationship between a grown-up man and a child is old. It was present in the plays of long ago in which "Fritz" Emmett sang those beautiful songs once so popular.

When things seem at their worst and our hero is about to surrender his quarters to a relentless rent profiteer and seek the comforts of a bench in Central Park, luck turns. He has written a poem in competition for a ladies' uplift society, and its reading at the society's gathering has made such a hit that a couple of the rich young ladies invade his citadel to get acquainted with the poet. He receives an invitation to the home of the young lady who is particularly interested, and having from modesty deceived her as to his identity by pretending to be the poet's secretary or amanuensis, is unceremoniously denied the house by her proud and wealthy father.

Meanwhile it turns out that the child is the son of the young lady's sister who offended the proud father by marrying a poor man, and who has died in poverty. So our ragged hero has adopted him, and it is in part this devotion that determines the rich young society woman to "play" for him as a marriageable commodity. Of course there is the proper display of high spirits and pride, and all that sort of thing, but when a woman will she will, and there's the end of it. The romance concludes very happily and quite according to the rules of the game as played in nine-tenths of the theatres on Broadway.

Too many evils, but William Hodge has his following, and they vote on what may seem rather conventional material. All thru he is the seemingly from man with apparently no more emotion than a cash-register; but of course, you are to understand that beneath that cold and passionless exterior there lurks the divine spark of love which is so vocal in Romeo. One is never deceived about the happy ending, as indeed Hodge's comedy with a somber ending would be unthinkable. The Hodge following applauded ardently and spontaneously, and they are filling the house. The papers treated the performance rather shabbily but they all spoke well of Hodge, and in truth that is the only proper way to speak of him and his performance. One knows what to expect and is never disappointed.

The outstanding fact of interest in the new play at the Playhouse, "Anna Ascends," is the work of Alice Brady as the Syrian immigrant heroine of this new picture of polyglot life in and around Washington. New York, by Harry Chapman Ford. Miss Brady has developed remarkably in her art, and it will hardly do to recite the half dozen best female players on the American stage without including her. The part is excellently suited to her, or rather, she signally accentuates the part by her intelligence and scope of expression. The play itself is negligible and poorly written. Anna is a Syrian girl who in the first act is a waitress in an east-side coffee house. There resort, together with certain foreign elements, sundry sociological students who love solitude from their own kind in order to expound philosophy with a Syrian waitress. Then three years elapse, and Anna, in her predestined course of ascension, is now secretary to a publisher, and has written a remarkable story of her own life which has become popular. And there is the publisher's son! It there were not the shadow of a stain to interpose between them, Anna's ascent would be limited only by the sky-line; and when it is explained that she had not really ever killed him, you can hear the happy wedding bells already ringing in the sweetness of your subtle imagination. It is a pity that for the sake of a really good part she has been under compulsion to take a play of no more permanent interest, the even with this handicap the performance cannot well be slighted. While the story is inconsequential, the color and atmosphere of the little-known region of the Syrian coffee house is sufficiently persuasive to charm the writing audience, and in her make-up of dancing braids and her foreign dialect, Anna is a perpetual source of satisfaction. And Miss Brady also has her following.

"Mary the Poor Girl," a farce by Owen Davis, which has just been put on at the Little Theatre, is a conventional affair of a forced marriage growing out of the accidental presence of a tipsy guest, in the room of the daughter of the house, at a week-end party. Davis does best in writing melodrama. As a farce writer he might profitably take lessons from Avery Hopwood. The piece is deficient both in wit and situations and whatever impression it makes soon fades out. The cast contains no names of importance.

At the Coban theatre Arnold Daly this week made his first appearance in a month of Sundays as a vagabond in a play entitled "The Tavern" from the pen of Cora Dick Grant. It is a model of mysticism of an old-fashioned kind in which figures lunatics and all sorts of characters after the manner of the sensational plays of the last century which make up the bulk of the library of French's plays. It deals with a highly complicated story calculated to puzzle, with the solution so long suspended that the audience grows tired of being kept in useless suspense. Daly acquires himself with credit, as always, and was well received.

At the Nora Bayes theatre a Scottish comedy, "Don't Tell," by the authors of "Bunty Pulls the Strings" is being presented by the Glasgow company, including the author, of which more in my next.

CINEMA CIRCLES FEATURE WEEK

Managers Book Bigger Productions as Fall Opens.

MOVIE BILLS FOR THE WEEK

Galaxy of Stars in Mammoth Releases to Regale Lima Folks.

(By ESTHER WAGNER)
WITHOUT a doubt, this is to be a week of features in cinema circles. The fall season is now in full swing and managers are booking all the larger productions, assuring patrons a run of pictures both mammoth and unusual.

Perhaps the most popular of the week's calendar is "Madame X," the famous stage play by Alexandre Bisson. Pauline Frederick, emotional actress, reaches the height of her career in this great French play, which will begin a five-day engagement at the Regent on Tuesday.

Thomas Ince's "Homespun Folks" is another super-special on the week's movie program. Mr. Ince has a penchant for producing stories of plain, everyday folks, and his success in this line has been marked. "Homespun Folks" has Lloyd Hughes as the leading man, and Gladys George in the most important feminine role. The Sigma has secured this production for three days, starting today.

"Big Happiness" also has a most important place among the greater pictures to be exhibited here this week. Dustin Farnum, now a Robertson-Cole star, heads the cast. The film will appear at the Lyric for four days.

Madge Kennedy lends her delightful personality and brand of comedy to "Help Yourself," from the story "Trimmed With Red," which appeared recently in The Saturday Evening Post. Miss Kennedy is assisted by Jane Bliss, Joseph Striker and a well-chosen cast. The Regent is featuring this picture today.

"Should A Woman Tell" comes to the Sigma theatre on Wednesday and Thursday. Alice Lake, who was the heroine in "Shore Acres," is starred in the production.

Tom Mix comes to the Sigma the last of the week in a new thriller "The Dared Devil." The Bialto is offering "The Iron Strain" today and tomorrow and the last of the week will be shown Mack Sennett's great comedy "Down on the Farm."

Mary Miles Minter is showing at the Majestic today in "Judy of Rogue's Harbor," while on Tuesday and Wednesday, Bryant Washburn will appear in "Venus in the East."

"BIG HAPPINESS"
Dustin Farnum, the most recent of the popular movie idols to be added to the list of Robertson-Cole stars, will make his first appearance under his new company in "Big Happiness" at the Lyric today.

In this rather remarkable photoplay, the scenes are laid in Switzerland, London, Paris and New York, and Farnum has the role of a wealthy society man, an idler and a dandy.

"Big Happiness" is a really big story for a really big actor. Mr. Farnum's work is well known to theatre-goers, and under his new banner he will be featured in a number of prominent stories. In this particular picture, Kathryn Adams plays the leading feminine role, and Fred Malatesta is the cultured villain. Other members of the cast include Joseph Dowling, who played the patriarch in "The Miracle Man," Violet Schramm and Aggie Jerron.

"Big Happiness" will play a four-day engagement here, starting today.

"MADAME X"
The film version of Alexandre Bisson's famous play "Madame X" is one of the most powerful pictures ever put on a screen, and with Pauline Frederick playing the lead, the story gains a new and wonderful interpretation. Miss Frederick reaches new heights in emotional acting in this production, which has been acclaimed by critics as the best work of her long career.

A mother's love for her son, who has believed her dead for twenty years, lifting her out of her character of a woman of the streets, causing her to commit murder to save him from disgrace and making her willing to be convicted rather than tell the story that might save her is the theme around which the play is written.

William Courtleigh has the leading masculine role and others in the cast are Casson Ferguson, Albert Roscoe, Lionel Belmore and Corneal Kirkham.

This great production will be exhibited at the Regent theatre for five days, beginning Tuesday.

JUDY OF ROGUE'S HARBOR
This is an unusual tale of country life, with dairy Mary Miles Minter as the captivating star. The picture is taken from Grace Miller White's popular book and is a delightful combination of one of the ablest fiction writers with one of filmdom's leading stars.

Little Frankie Lee, six and a half years old, has an important role in the picture, as have two of the oldest actors in the profession, Herbert Standing and Theodore Roberts. Charles Meredith is cast as the young lover and the others in the cast are excellent.

"Judy of Rogue's Harbor" is showing today and tomorrow at the Majestic theatre.

"HELP YOURSELF"
"Help Yourself" the new Goldwyn picture starring Madge Kennedy, and taken from Wallace Irwin's story "Trimmed With Red," suits the versatile Miss Kennedy's talent admirably.

Miss Kennedy is one of the few artists of the screen who has succeeded in light comedy of the first order. She has made a name and a place for herself as a comedienne who has no superior and many imitators. Some very amusing scenes staged in the haunts of rednecks have Miss Kennedy as the central figure; there are many beautiful interior and exterior scenes, and the reproductions of Bohemian scenes are unusual. "Help Yourself" is the season's best comedy. It is appearing today and tomorrow at the Regent.

BLUFFTON COLLEGE AND HIGH SCHOOL ANNOUNCES SEASON'S LECTURE COURSE

An announcement was made this week of the Bluffton College and High School lecture program for the present season.

The course opens Friday, November 12 with Arthur Middleton of the Metropolitan. He is the greatest baritone in America and also the premier oratorio baritone before the public today. The next artist to appear will be Myrna Sharlow, prima donna soprano, last season's sensation of the Chicago Opera Association. With her appears Granville English, an eminent Chicago pianist, who will play solos on Miss Sharlow's program.

Following is the list of dates for the different number of the lecture course:

Friday, November 12, Arthur Middleton, baritone of the Metropolitan Opera. Monday, November 15, Myrna Sharlow, prima donna, soprano of the Chicago Opera company and Granville English, pianist. Thursday, December 9, Herbert Leon Cope, humorist. Sunday, December 12, Messiah, Choral Society. Wednesday, January 12, Orchestra concert. January 12, Gregory Mason war correspondent and journalist. Tuesday, February 22, Chas. Crawford Goss, Bird imitator. Wednesday, April 13, Verna Poppe, English cellist and Lucile Barber, pianist, Spring Concert Choral society.

Many Lima people are planning to attend the opening concert by Mr. Arthur Middleton, who last appeared before a Lima audience when he sang in the "Messiah" eight years ago.

OPENS AT SIGMA THEATRE

Great Line of Releases Secured by New Lima Theatre.

THE Sigma theatre announces that all pictures released thru the Associated Producers Association will be shown on their screen, giving to play-goers some of the best pictures made.

The directors whose works are released thru this association include Thomas H. Ince, J. Parker Read, Maurice Tourneur, George Loane Tucker, Mack Sennett, Marshall Neilan and Alan Dwan. Each of these respective producers have contributed masterpieces to the cinema art. Such pictures as "The Miracle Man," produced by George Loane Tucker, "Go and Get It," under the direction of Marshall Neilan, and a host of others are pictures that have attained prominence all over the world, and are but a fore-runner of what these producers intend giving to the public in the future.

Thomas H. Ince, pioneer director, has just released a picture, "Homespun Folks," that puts him one step further in the delineation of drama that is human. It is a story as direct and simple as it is powerful—an epic of the 60,000,000 plain people who live in small towns in this great land, a heart-warming memory test for the millions who have left them to wrestle with the world in the big ones.

Lloyd Hughes, one of Ince's new "finds," has the role of the young country boy who is turned from his home because he entered the bar. Old Caleb Webster would not stand for any "fool lawyers" in his household. Hughes' portrayal of the rustic young giant is as natural and human as if Charles Ray himself had played it. And from all appearances, Mr. Ince will have developed another Mr. Ray in the form of Lloyd Hughes before many years go by.

The genius of Thomas H. Ince is said to find its truest expression in this new super-photodrama, from which human interest fairly oozes. A perfectly balanced cast, with each player suited to his particular character is one of the finest features. "Homespun Folks" will begin a three-day engagement at the Sigma theatre today.

ORPHEUM OFFERS HEADLINERS

Big Time Vaudeville Artists Appear Last Time To-day.

The six acts of big-time vaudeville, making up the program of hits which opened at the matinee Thursday, will be presented for the last three times at the Orpheum theatre at the matinee this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and the two shows tonight at 7:30 and 9. Every offering has scored high in favor upon every presentation thus far and the program, as a whole, has been acclaimed by every audience as one of the best balanced, most varied and delightful of the year. There will be a complete change of bill at the matinee Monday afternoon, for the first half of the week.

Keeno, Keys and Melrose, direct from the big-time theatres of the east, are the headliners of the vaudeville program ending its engagement this afternoon and tonight. They present a "grand old song and dance" comedy turn, comprised of eccentric acrobatics, dancing and comedy that has proven irresistible with Lima patrons of the Orpheum. Mack and Roberts, in a blackface offering of African hilarity, have introduced a new repertoire of songs, of snappy dialogue and comic capers. Leboen and Dupree appear in a western novelty of clean-cut humor, catchy songs and remarkable feats of marksmanship. They use small-bore rifles, with special ammunition, and silencers which eliminate objectionable noise in its entirety. Harry Taylor expounds a refreshing bit of original myth. Gwen and Clark are a clever chap and a captivating Miss in a divertissement of typical, topical songs, nifty dance steps and pertinent patter. Stanley Gallini & Co. are world renowned shadowgraphers—a real novelty.

NEW PROGRAM
The vaudeville bill for the first half of the new week, starting Monday matinee and night, is headlined by Carl Deau and Girls, in a radiant song and dance revue de luxe, gorgeously costumed and stunningly staged. This act is not a "tabloid" or miniature musical comedy, but an arrangement of the best song gems, dance steps, comedy bits and amusement morsels from the reigning Broadway show successes. Hazel-tine's Circus is composed of a comedy mule, trick ponies, trained dogs and monkeys and is said to be a treat for the "girls and boys of forty," as well as those of four. Henderson and Holliday are burnt cork comedians extraordinary. They should prove one of the outstanding black-face comedy hits of the season. Frank and Mack offer a refined cycle of entertainment tid-bits. Curt Galloway is a tramp comedian of the first water. Forrest and Church present "A Vaudeville Rhapsody," which is a distinct departure both from musical and talking turns, both of which brands of entertainment they combine in delightful fashion. "I Want My Reel" will be the headliner for the last half of the week and next Sunday, starting Thursday matinee. This is a distinct comedy innovation and is expected to score a tremendous laughing success.

THE EAVESDROPPER

A ONE-EYED man with a stuffy nose and a head bowed before the steps of Cairo's great hotel and his expectant gaze ranged hopefully over the thronged verandas. It was afternoon tea time; the band was playing and the crowd was at its thickest and brightest. The little tables were surrounded by travelers of all nations, some in tourist tweeds and hats with the inevitable green veils; others, those of more leisurely sojourns in white seizes and diaphanous frocks and flighy hats. Fresh from the Rue de la Paix.

It was the tired-clad groups that the crocodile vender scanned for a purchaser of his wares and hastily and unthinkingly exhorted to buy, but no answering gaze betokened the least desire to bring back a crocodile to the loved ones at home. Only Billy B. Hill grinned delightedly at him, as Billy grinned at every merry sight of the spectacular East, and Billy took his head with cheerful unconcern, so the crocodile vender moved reluctantly on before the importance of the Oriental rug peddler at his heels.

Then he stopped. His turbaned head, topped by the grotesque, gleamed-eyed, glistening-toothed monster, revolved slowly as the Arab's single eye steadily followed a couple who passed by him up the hotel steps. Billy, struck by the man's intense interest, craned forward and saw that one of the couple, now exchanging farewells at the top of the steps, was a girl, a pretty girl, and an American, and the other was an officer in a uniform of considerable green and gold, and obviously a foreigner.

No might be any kind of a foreigner, according to Billy's lax distinctions, that was olive of complexion and very black of hair and eyes. Slender and of medium height, he carried himself with an assurance that bordered upon effrontery, and as he bowed himself down the steps he flashed upon his former companion a smile of triumph that included and seemed to challenge the verandahful of observers.

The girl turned and glanced casually about at the crowd of groups that were like samples of all the nations of the earth, and with no more than a faint awareness of the history of eyes upon her she passed toward the tables by the railing. She was a slim little fairy of a girl, at a cloud of pale gold hair fluttering round her pretty face, which lent her a most alluring and deceptive appearance of ethereal mildness. She had a soft, satiny, rose-tinted skin which was merely flushed by the heat of the Egyptian day, and her eyes were big and very, very blue. There were touches of that blue here and there upon her creamy linen suit, and a knot of blue upon her Panama hat, so that she could not be held unconscious of the flirtatiously bewitching effect. Altogether she was as unexpectedly pretty a young person as could be seen in a year's journey, and the glances of the beholders brightened vividly at her approach.

There was one conspicuous exception. This exception was sitting alone at the large table which backed Billy's tiny table into a corner by the railing, and as the girl arrived at that large table the exception arose and greeted her with an air of glacial chill.

"Oh! Am I so terribly late?" said the girl with great pleasantness, and arched brows of surprise at the two other places at the table before which used tea things were standing.

"My sister and Lady Claire had an appointment, so they were obliged to have their tea and leave," stated the young man, with an air of polite endeavoring to conceal his feelings, and failing conspicuously in the endeavor. "They were most sorry."

"Oh, so am I!" declared the girl, in clear and contrite tones which carried perfectly to Billy B. Hill's enchanted ears. "I never dreamed they would have to hurry away."

"They did not hurry, as you call it," and the young man glanced at his watch, "for nearly an hour. It was a disappointment to them."

"Pardon?" thought Billy, with intense disgust. "Is he kicking at a two-some?"

"And have you had your tea?" inquired the girl, with an air of tantalizing unconcern.

"I waited, naturally, for my guest."

"Oh, not naturally!" she laughed. "It must be very unusual for you to wait for anything. And you must be starving. So am I—do you think there are enough cakes left for the two of us?"

Without directly replying, the young man gave the order to the red-robed Arab in a red-girdled white robe who was removing the soiled tea things, and he assisted the girl into a chair and sat down facing her. Their plates were given to the shames-Billy, and he continued his rapid observations.

He had immediately recognized the girl as a vision he had seen fluttering around the hotel with an unconsciously dismal couple of unyouthful ladies, and he had mentally affixed a magnate's-only-daughter-globe-trotting—with-elderly-friends label to her.

The young man could not place her definitely. There were a good many tall, aristocratic young Englishmen about, with slight, stooping and incipient moustaches. This particular Englishman had hair that was prominently sandy, and Billy suddenly recollected that in juncing at the Savoy the other day he had noticed that young Englishman in company with a sandy-haired lady, not so young, and a decidedly pretty dark-haired girl. It was the girl, of course, who had fixed the group in Billy's crowded impressions. He decided that these ladies were the sister and Lady Claire—and Lady Claire, he judiciously concluded, certainly had nothing on young America.

Young America was speaking. "Don't look so thunderous!" she complained to her late host. "How do you know I didn't plan to be late?"

"This was too delicate for endurance. A dull red burned thru the tan of the young Englishman's cheeks, and he sat up to meet the corresponding warmth of his hair. A blush within him snarled.

"It is a happy coincidence," burst from him, and then he shut his jaw hard, as if only one last remnant of will power kept a seething volcano from explosion.

"How any girl in Cairo, of all places," he continued to explode in little snorts.

"You are speaking of—?" she inquired.

"Of your walking with that fellow—in broad daylight!"

"Would it have been better in the gloaming?"

"The sweet restraint in the young man's manner was supernatural. It was unusual. It should have warned the red-headed young man, but oblivion, of danger signals, he was plunging on, full steam ahead.

"It isn't as if you didn't know—I hadn't been warned."

"You have been so kind," the girl murmured, and poured a cup of tea the Arab had placed at her elbow. The young man ignored his. The color burned hotter and hotter in his face. Even his hair looked redder.

"The look he gave up here was simply outrageous—a grin of insolent triumph. I'd like to have had my cane across him!"

The girl's cup clicked against the saucer. "You are horrid!" she declared. "When we were on shipboard Captain Kerlison was very polite to me, and I talked with him whenever I landed."

"Everyone did. Now that I am in his native city I see no reason to talk past him when he happens to be going in the same direction. He is a gentleman of rank, a relative of the Khedive who is ruling this country under your English advice, and he is—"

"A Turk!" cried out the young man.

"A Turk and proud of it! His mother was French, however, and he was educated at Oxford and he is as cosmopolitan as any man I ever met. It's unusual to meet anyone so close to the reigning family, and it gives one a wonderful insight into things off the beaten track."

"The beaten-track!" said the young man, and Billy's heart went out to him. "Oh, I beg pardon, but you—he—I—?" So many things occurred to him to say at one and the same time that he emitted a short of warring and incoherent syllables. Finally, with supreme control, "Do you know that your 'gentleman of rank' couldn't set foot in a gentleman's club in this country?"

"I think it's mean!" retorted the girl, her blue eyes very bright and indignant. "You English come here and look down on even the highest members of the country you are pretending to assist. Why do you? When he was at Oxford he went into your English homes."

"English madhouses—for admitting him!"

A brief silence ensued. The girl ate a cake. It was a nice cake, powdered with almonds, but she ate it obliviously. The angry red shone rosily in her cheeks.

The young man took a hasty drink of his tea, which had grown cold in its cup, and pushed it away. Obstinately he rushed on in his mad career.

"I simply cannot understand you!" he declared.

"Does it matter?" and she, and bit an almond's head off.

"It won't be bad enough in any city, but in Cairo—" To permit him to insult you with his company, alone, upon the streets."

"When you have said that you have said a little too much," she returned in a small, cold voice of war. "Is there anything against Captain Kerlison personally?"

"Who knows anything about any of these fellows? They are all alike—with half a dozen ways looked up behind their barred windows."

"He isn't married?"

"How do you know?"

"I inferred it."

"The Englishman snorted. 'According to his custom, you know, it isn't the proper thing to mention his ladies in public.'"

"You are frightfully unjust, Captain Kerlison's custom are the customs of the civilized world, and he is very anxious to have his country become modernized."

"Then let him send his sisters out walking with fellow officers. For him to walk beside you—"

"He was following the custom of my country," said the girl, with maddening superiority. "Since I am an American girl—"

"The young Englishman said a horrible thing. He said it with immense feeling."

"American gooses!" he uttered, then stopped short. Precipitately he thundered into explanation.

"I beg your pardon, but, you know, when you are such a silly non-sense as that—An American girl has no more business to be imprudent than a Patagonian girl. You have no idea how these people regard—"

"Oh, don't apologize," murmured the girl, with charming sweetness. "I don't mind what you say to me in the least."

The outraged man was not so befuddled but what he saw the danger signals now. They glimmered scarlet upon his vision, but his blood was up and he plunged on to destruction with the extraordinary remark. "But isn't there a reason why you should?"

She gazed at him in mock reflection, as if mulling this striking thought presented to her consideration, but her eyes were to sparkle.

and her cheeks too poppy-pink to substantiate the reflective pose.

"N-no," she said at last, with an impatient little drawl. "I can't seem to think of any."

He did not pause for innuendo. "You mean you don't give a plaster what I think?"

"Not half a plaster," she confirmed, in flat defiance.

The young man looked at her. He was over the brink of ruin now; nothing remained of the interesting little affair of the past three weeks but a mangled and lamentable wreck at the bottom of a deep abyss.

Perhaps a shaft of compunction touched her flinty soul at the sight of his aghast and speechless face, for she had the grace to look away. Her gaze encountered the absorbed and excited countenance of Billy B. Hill, and the poppy-pink of her cheeks became sharply away. She rose, catching up her gloves and parasol.

"Thank you so much for your tea," she said in a lowered tone to her unfortunate host. "I've had a delicious time. I'm sorry if I disappointed you by not covering before your disapproval. Oh, don't bother to come in with me—I know my way to the lift and the band is going to play God Save the King and they need you to stand up and make a showing."

Billy B. Hill stared across at the abandoned young man with supreme sympathy and intimate understanding. He was a nice, up-right-minded young man and she was an utter snuff. She was the daughter of un-reason and the granddaughter of folly. She needed, emphatically needed to be shown. But this Englishman, with his harsh and violent antagonizing way of putting things, was clearly not the man for the need. It took a lighter touch—the hand of iron in the velvet glove, as it were. It took a keener spirit, a softer humor. Billy threw out his chest and drew himself up to his full five feet eleven and one-half inches, as he passed indoors and sought the hotel register, for he felt within himself the true equipment for that delicate mission. He fairly panted to be at it.

Fate was amiable. The hotel clerk, coerced with a couple of gold-banded ones with the real fragrance, permitted Billy to learn that the blue-eyed one's name was Beecher, Arlee Beecher, and that she was in the company of two ladies entitled Mrs. and Miss Eversham. The Miss Eversham was quite old enough to be entitled other-wise. They were occupied, the clerk reported, with nerves and dissatisfaction. Miss Beecher appeared occupied in part—with a correspondence that would swamp a foreign office.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

On legal affidavit, John Hart Brittain, business man, certified to this: "My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth."

"Yet now, at an age over 66, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs." Mr. Brittain certified further:

INDIAN'S SECRET OF HAIR GROWTH
"At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, ointments, special treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an elixir that he asserted would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as profuse as in my youthful days."

That I was astonished and happy in expressing my state of mind and health. Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious poultice. I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this mysterious elixir, now called Kotalko, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist.

That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved."

THIRTY-SIXTH YEAR

LIMA, OHIO, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1926

PRICE FIVE CENTS

CLUB CLOSE FOR 1920 SEASON

Round of Gayety For Season
Comes to End at Shawnee
Country Club Sunday

Women Turning From Summer
Pleasure to More Serious
Things as Fall Appears

WITH ideal weather and attractive social functions, the last days of September and the first of October when we have been reminded of the casual observer of early spring, but underneath the gaiety of this season there is not the desire for relaxation as in the spring. Instead of zeal for accomplishment in serving every woman, the manifestation appearing in an interest in politics, clubs, philanthropy and other work.

Throughout the social world there are signs of unusual activity. Women are shaking the dust from their long neglected social amenities and re-turning their winter wardrobes. All soundings indicate that the coming season will be one of "deep seas" for the persons who would fry.

But it is in the more serious things of life that women, in the present time find outlet for her energy, enthusiasm and capacity for doing things. No longer is it popular to be just a society woman, instead that role has become a thing of the past and women are not content unless they are doing something worth while and that is what takes humanity to the heights.

Announcement that the Shawnee Country club will be closed Sunday evening for the winter season being given to Lima people. The summer season which is losing has been one of "dinner-dances, bridge luncheons, literary teas and evening affairs and more people have enjoyed the cool summer breezes swept from the broad golf links and the activities of the club than at any time in the past.

A number of interesting golf tournaments were featured at the club this year and on each Thursday afternoon was known as "Ladies Day," there were small matinees for the women golfer.

This summer season at the Shawnee Country club has been by far the most successful of any in a number of years.

WHEN NATURE'S SIGNAL WARNS YOU OF APPROACHING ILL HEALTH

Only when Nature flashes her warning signal of Danger before his startled gaze does a man realize that his lowered vitality and weakened power of resistance have totally unfitted him to meet the crises with force and courage.

Like the engineer who falls asleep at his post such a man, by failing to build up his health and strength at the first sign of a nervous, run-down condition, risks his happiness, his recovery and even life itself.

Yet thousands of people are far from being up to the mark in either body or mind, simply because there is lost from most of the foods they eat every day the essential substances of Nature—the vitamins.

Science has found absolutely necessary to send through the body the steady streams of vitalizing energy that can only come from 100 percent health and power. In the words of Dr. John J. Rudolph, a former Health Commissioner, late of New York Hospital Staffs and a Graduate of the University of Baltimore: "It is safe to state that nine out of every ten people in this country today would probably be far better off physically and mentally if they would get more of these life-giving vitamins into their systems. But not until the introduction of a tablet combining the concentrated vitamins with other health-building elements, in the form known to druggists as Vitamon, was there any means, as far as I can tell, by which the average persons could derive anything like the benefits which this places within their reach. So rapid, so pronounced and so amazing are the results I have seen produced by Vitamon, that no matter what anyone says, I do not believe there is anything whatsoever to which this discovery can be compared. Not until you have taken Vitamon yourself and watched its effects in your own case, can you form any idea of the vast difference it may make in your health, strength, mental vigor and physical appearance. Vitamon may be taken with benefit by either men or women, at all seasons and the surprising results are produced in many cases within a remarkably short space of time."

Notes: Physicians are daily learning more and more about vitamins from articles in the London Lancet and other prominent medical journals while the public have had a chance to read of their great health value in the columns of the Literary Digest, New York Sunday American, Physical Culture Magazine and other leading papers. A lack of energy, loss of weight, nervous troubles, sallow skin and a general run-down condition, the astonishing health-building power of vitamins has been clearly demonstrated by medical research. So confident are the manufacturers of the benefits to be derived from Vitamon, that they make the following unconditional guarantee:

If after using Vitamon you are not entirely satisfied with the results and are not convinced that it has been worth the money more than you paid for it, your druggist will refund your money and the trial will cost you absolutely nothing. Vitamon may now be obtained in this city from all leading druggists such as Mykura's, Kuntz's, Red Cross, Baldwin's Central, Enterprise Drug, Gunnings, etc.

Think of this! 85% of the children you see in this school are doomed to go through this life more or less incapacitated for work because they are permitted to wear improper, ill-fitted shoes—the prime cause of future foot trouble.

—Statistics prove this.

Can you not see, then, why we are so careful in the selection of children's shoes at this store and why we pay so much attention to fitting perfectly the child's shoes that leave our store, why we must carry a large stock to make perfect fitting certain?

THE ROOM WITH THE TASSELS

By Carolyn Wells

Eve Carnforth gave a scream and buried her face in her hands.

Milly Landon turned white and swayed as if about to faint, but her husband caught her in his arms and supported her.

"What can he mean?" said Norma, turning to Braye, "how could Mr. Tracy have done it for money? Who would give him money?"

"Hush, Norma," said Braye, in a low voice, and Norma remembered it was the same tone he had used when she had before asked questions of him. She had thought over his words on that occasion, and had concluded he meant she must not say anything that seemed to throw suspicion toward Wynne Landon. She looked at the sobbing Milly, and the pained, strained face of Wynne, who was trying to soothe her, and then Norma turned to Eve.

"Eve was using all her will power to preserve her robe, but Norma saw at once that she was having difficulty to do so. In kindness of heart, Norma went over to the suffering girl.

"Come with me, Eve," she said softly, "let us go off by ourselves for a while."

"Yes, do," said Penny Wise, looking kindly at the two girls. "Zizi, perhaps you'd be of use."

Zizi followed the other two, and they went to Eve's room. With all the deftness of a nurse, Zizi found some aromatic cologne, and a fresh handkerchief, and in a moment was bathing Eve's temples, with a gentle soothing touch.

"What a funny little piece you are!" said Eve looking at the small sympathetic face, and speaking in a precupped voice.

"Yes," acquiesced Zizi, while Norma sat by, lost in her own thoughts.

"Tell me," said Eve, suddenly roused to energy "tell me, Zizi, you know as much as Mr. Wise does—tell me, who paid Tracy money?"

"That!" cried Norma. "Eve, hush! don't say such things. If anybody did, we don't want to know it!"

"We'll have to know it," said Eve, simply, "and, Norma—"

But Norma interrupted her: "No, Eve, we don't have to, at least, we don't have to ask about it, or inquire into it. The detective will do that."

"You'll soon have to know," said Zizi, quietly, "indeed you will, now, don't you, Miss Carnforth?"

"I asked you!" cried Eve hysterical again. "Tell me, tell me, at once, girl!"

But Zizi shook her head, and continued to bathe Eve's brow. "Try to be calm," she whispered, "there will be much for you to hear, and you must be brave to bear it."

But Zizi looked at her wonderingly, and seeing deep compassion in the dark eyes, she ceased questioning and closed her eyes.

After a few moments, she opened her eyes and rose from her couch. "Thank you, Zizi," she said, "I am all right now. I am going back to join the others. Will you come, Norma?"

"Dadsky, as one in a dream, Norma rose, and the three went down stairs. Apparently little had been said of importance since they left. There was a tense silence, and Pennington Wise said, "I find I must speak out and tell you the truth. I had hoped for a confession but I see no signs of it."

"I was not, strictly speaking, employed by any one of you. I asked to be allowed to investigate this case because it seemed to me the most remarkable one I had ever heard of. I wrote to Professor Hardwick for information concerning it, and finally I arranged to come up here. I brought Zizi, because she is invaluable to me in collecting evidence. Her quick wit, and her dainty personality can compare's effects that I can not feel, therefore, that is to Professor Hardwick that I should make any direct report. But as you are all interested I will ask any of you who choose to do so, to remain and listen. The others may be excused."

"Of course, we'll all stay," exclaimed Landon. "We're all quite as much interested as Professor Hardwick can possibly be. More so, indeed, for the victims of the crime are not relatives of his."

"Very well," returned Wise, "stay then, all of you. The story is a long one, tho it is a deeply sad one. John Tracy was hired,—basely hired, to commit those two murders. The man who hired him is, of course, the greater criminal, tho his hands are unstained with actual blood. The man who hired the assassin, is, naturally, the man who desired the large fortune of Clifford Bruce, and who realized that unless two people were removed from earth he could not inherit. Need I say more?"

"You need not," said Rudolph Braye. "I confess, the plan was Tracy's, the suggestion was his. He emptied me, by telling me that he had read of a plan by which people could be put to death and leave no possible trace. He said that I would eventually inherit the fortune, and that I ought to have it while I was young enough to enjoy it. He said he would do the deed and I need know nothing about it. nor be present at the time I am not shifting the blame, I am merely telling you the facts."

Braye spoke in a monotone, his eyes on the floor, his hands nervously twitching.

"A hundred times I regretted our plans, a hundred times I begged Tracy to give up the project but he held me to it, and said if I pestered out he would tell the whole story."

"When the plan for coming up here was started, Tracy made me get him invited saying it was an ideal opportunity. I didn't think he would really carry out his intentions, and as the ghost seemed really to appear, I watched to discover the means. I did see stebbins enter thru the revolving column and had no difficulty in discovering how it worked. I showed this to Tracy,—he made me do so,—and when I went to New York, he played ghost and appeared to little Verme.

"Again and again I pleaded with him to give up the fearful scheme but he refused to do so. The day I went to East Dryden with Milly I had no idea that he intended to do the deed, but—he did. I had promised him half the fortune, and he had declared that there could be no suspicion of either of us,—he said, if there were any suspicion it would be directed toward Wynne. I made no excuses. I hereby pay the penalty."

Braye swallowed what was evidently a portion of the same poison that had killed Clifford Bruce, and in less than a minute he was a dead man.

John Tracy was arrested and received his just deserts.

Wynne Landon inherited the fortune, and tho it had painful associations, he and Milly went away from Black Aspens never to return and in time lived down the sad and awful memories.

"You see, Penny," Zizi summed up, "a criminal always slips up on some minor count. If the Tracy person hadn't oiled his door, and the door of that haunted room so carefully, or if he'd had the wit to oil some other doors too, we might have overlooked him as a possible suspect, eh?"

"I don't thing so, Ziz," "Neither do I, Penny Wise." THE END.

BETTER SUPPLY OF GAS IS SOUGHT FOR LIMA

EIGHT RESCUED IN GULF WRECK

REPAIR OF LINE TO BE ASKED

Lima and Medina Companies to Confer This Week.

WOULD FORESTALL BATTLE

Dealers Believe Coal Will Be More Plentiful.

Efforts will be made this week by the Lima Natural Gas Co., to reach an agreement with the Medina Gas Co., which supplies this city, whereby the mains between the fields and Lima may be repaired and a better supply of natural gas supplied. This announcement was made last night by E. R. Curtin, president of the Lima distributing concern.

A meeting will be held at Columbus the middle of this week at which the matter will be taken up. Curtin hopes to be able to effect arrangements whereby the two companies may repair the "leaky" line, completing the work started some time ago and abandoned after the new proposition from the Lima company was turned down by Council.

The Lima company spent considerable money on the line and has been completing work in order that the best service possible may be secured for the winter.

ABANDONMENT TO BE ASKED
Curtin said that an agreement on the matter would forestall litigation of the Medina company to abandon the line to Lima, but in event they cannot come to terms it is certain that the application to cease to furnish gas to this city will have to be sought out before the Public Utilities Commission. He said his company is ready to fight the case and will do everything possible to retain the supply for the city.

Prospects for the winter are not bright. There will be less gas than last winter, Curtin said, but an agreement between the two companies will result in a better flow than will be received otherwise.

Upon his return to the city yesterday Curtin answered a letter from Mayor Burkhardt in which the latter (Continued on Page Two)

PROFITEERING UP TO HIGH COURT

Important Actions Pending When Judges Resume.

WASHINGTON—The United States Supreme Court Monday will hold its first meeting since it handed down its famous decision upholding the constitutionality of national prohibition. The court has been in recess since that decision on June 7.

At the opening of its new term, the court is scheduled to hear and decide one important anti-trust suit and cases involving the constitutionality of the Lever act and the farm loan act. Probably the most important anti-trust action and the first case on the court docket is one against the Lehigh Valley Railroad, in which the government seeks to separate the railroad from its anthracite coal holdings. The government won a similar case against the Reading railroad. The Lehigh case is up for reargument.

The suits involving constitutionality of the Lever law and farm loan acts are scheduled for argument beginning next Monday. All profiteering cases brought by the department of justice have been based on the section of the Lever law in dispute. If the court decides this section unconstitutional, all profiteering cases now on will be dropped and no others will be started. If the court upholds the law, the government can immediately file more cases in districts where unfavorable decisions by lower courts have temporarily halted proceedings under the act.

The Farm Loan case comes up from Kansas, where lower courts held the act unconstitutional, practically tying up all operations of the Farm Loan Board. Future operations hang on the decision by the supreme court.

Among hundreds of other cases before the court is one involving valuable oil lands in dispute between Oklahoma and Texas and another which will determine whether West Virginia can pass a law to stop piping of its natural gas to Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The court Monday may break one of the time honored customs of the American government by not going to the White House. Since the early days of the government this has been the first act of the court at the beginning of each new term. The ill health of President Wilson may prevent it this year.

STATE PUT IN CONTROL OF RAILROAD STRIKES BY TEXAS LEGISLATURE

AUSTIN, Tex.—(By United Press) The Texas legislature Saturday night passed a bill providing for state control of strikes in ports and on railroads.

The measure provides for use of state rangers in keeping "channels of commerce open."

Interference or intimidation of workers replacing strikers may be punished by jail sentences.

The measure was approved Saturday night by the senate 19 to 17. The house previously voted overwhelmingly for the new law.

'REAL THING' SEEN IN PRICE DROP

Harry A. Wheeler Talks on Reduction in Commodities

'DECREASES WILL CONTINUE'

Common Labor Also to Hit Skids, He Predicts

CHICAGO—Further reductions in food prices and in wages of common laborers and farm hands, next year, was predicted Saturday night by Harry A. Wheeler, banker and former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Wheeler declared it is his belief that the present decline in prices is the "real thing" and will probably continue. He said, however, that he did not believe prices would return to their pre-war level.

"The supply has caught up with the demand," is the reason Wheeler gave for the decline.

High prices, he said, were caused by a shortage of the principal commodities for two or three times the stuff he actually needed in expectation of getting his requirements out of a portion of the order placed.

"While prices were ascending, there was no need of liquidation. Then, when the supply and demand began to equalize, the fear of lower prices caused cancellation of orders and when the order market was liquidated, it was found that the supply had overtaken the demand. The market has therefore turned from a selling market to a buyers' market, which invariably induces price recessions."

THE EFFECT, Wheeler said, will be to cause a lay off of labor and make the supply of common labor plentiful.

This also will mean, he said, that more laborers will be available for the farm next year, enabling the farmers to turn out bigger crops which tend to lower prices.

As the supply of common labor and farm hands become more plentiful, their wages will fall.

Wheeler declared that he did not look for any wage reductions in skilled labor until the common laborers' wages had fallen.

U. S. SOLONS BACK

Congressmen Return From Tour of the Orient.

SAN FRANCISCO—Members of the American congressional party, which has been touring the Orient for the last few months, arrived in San Francisco Saturday aboard the United States army transport "Madawaska."

"America must be prepared," was the statement of Congressman Porter of Pennsylvania, chairman of the house foreign relations committee. "We must build our navy to the strength of present conditions make it imperative that we have a navy second to none."

"My studies of the Far East have convinced me as I never before was convinced, that the people of the United States and the government must build a navy that will outrank all others in the world."

Porter, however, would not discuss either this statement, or the might relate to the Japanese situation, or the Japanese question.

"I cannot comment on such a delicate matter," he said.

DEMONSTRATION OF TESTING OF SOIL

A demonstration will be held during the coming week on the T. E. Evans farm, one mile south of Gomer to show farmers in that vicinity or anyone who is interested, the value of ground limestone as a corrector for soil acidity. Methods of application and the necessary machinery will be in use.

The Allen-co Farm Bureau has charge of the demonstration, and farmers who desire to know the exact lime needs of their soil can bring samples and have them tested on the ground by experts. The date of the experiment will be announced later.

BRITAIN STICKS TO IRISH POLICY

Cabinet Approves Greenwood and Macready Administration.

TO INVESTIGATE REPRISALS

Attitude Toward MacSwiney Unchanged, Secretary Says.

LONDON—The British cabinet, after officially placing its stamp of approval upon the administration of Irish affairs, by Chief Secretary Greenwood, and General Macready, had decided to investigate the reprisals by Royal Irish constabulary for the killing of policemen by Sinn Fein sympathizers, it was learned Saturday.

Contrary to predictions, the cabinet voted unanimously to carry out its present policy of restoring order in Ireland before embarking upon new policies.

"The government is unanimously and unqualifiedly behind the Irish administration," Greenwood said after the meeting. "The condition of internal affairs in Ireland is improving rapidly, despite reports to the contrary."

PAT AS TO MACSWINEY

Asked if there was any change in the ministry's attitude toward Lord Mayor MacSwiney and other Sinn Fein prisoners, Greenwood said:

"The decision regarding MacSwiney and his colleagues taken six weeks ago, is irrevocable."

From semi-official sources, it was learned that while strictest orders were issued against further reprisals, no retroactive measures would be undertaken. It was explained that General Tudor, as inspector-general of the Royal Irish constabulary, has been charged with maintaining discipline among the "Black and Tans."

Macready, it was said, is only head of the military forces and is not responsible for acts of the constabulary.

CAREFUL SELECTION
In a letter to the Daily News, Tudor defends the "Black and Tans," composed of former service men and forming part of the constabulary. These men have been carefully selected, he said, and have not been or instigated any reprisals. Some reprisals have occurred, Tudor admitted, but "as a result of the men being good beyond human endurance."

The Star published a long interview with Alfred Smith, who said he resigned from the "Black and Tans" because of the appalling "lack of discipline," Smith said he did not remember of any direct instructions for murder, but that the reprisals were carried out under the direction of officers, who pointed out the homes of Sinn Fein leaders from charts. He said the police lorries were always provided with gasoline bombs.

MACSWINEY WASTING AWAY
LONDON—Lord Mayor MacSwiney, on the 31st day of his hunger strike in Brixton prison, was reported to be growing steadily weaker.

His sister, Anne, said Saturday evening that he had wasted away to a mere skeleton and that prison physicians estimated his weight at only 80 pounds. His normal weight is 150.

The doctors again urged him to take food. He replied that his mind was made up and that he would not change it.

Since the newspapers have ceased to mention MacSwiney, interest in his case save among the Irish element, has almost passed from the public mind in England.

EIGHT PRISONERS SAW TO LIBERTY AT AKRON, 2 DEPUTIES DISMISSED

AKRON—Two deputies were dismissed at the county jail Saturday night in connection with the escape of eight prisoners early Saturday. One of the eight was captured in the city several hours after the delivery.

The other seven were still at large Saturday night. The men saved their way thru the iron bars of their cells and broke thru an iron door to freedom.

This is the third jail escape here within a few months.

ATTORNEYS ADDRESS COX CLUB MEETING

Judge S. H. Armstrong and Attorney Harry O'Connor, the latter the Democratic candidate for prosecuting attorney of Allen county, were the speakers at a meeting of the Allen-co Cox club, Friday evening, at the court house, presided over by Calvin Selfridge, chairman of the Democratic central committee.

Enthusiastic talks were made by the speakers on the League of Nations and other important questions. Nearly 100 members of the club and others, were present.

A second alarm received by the department Saturday was from 151 S. Jackson-st., and proved to be false, according to Chief Mack.

MISSISSIPPI SHOWS BIG DECREASE IN POPULATION; OKLAHOMA'S GROWTH LARGE

WASHINGTON—Mississippi is the second state to show a decrease in population in the 1920 census. Its population of 1,789,183 announced Saturday by the census bureau, is 7,932, or .4 per cent less than that of ten years ago. Vermont was the first state to show a decrease, its 1920 population being one per cent less than that of ten years ago.

The 1920 populations of Oklahoma, Wisconsin and South Dakota also were announced Saturday and each state showed a substantial increase. Oklahoma had the greatest increase, its population of 2,027,564 being 370,409 or 22.4 per cent greater than that in 1920. This, however, was the smallest numerical and relative increase shown by Oklahoma since its organization as a territory in 1890.

OHIO SUFFERS AS BINS RUN LOW

State's Coal Supply 65 Per Cent Short, Smith Says.

SCHOOLS BEGIN TO CLOSE

Meeting Called for Tomorrow to Seek Relief.

COLUMBUS—Only immediate relief of the interstate commerce commission priority rulings, which have been sending Ohio coal to the northwest and New England regions all summer, will save off a fuel shortage in this state that will mean acute suffering, officials of the state utilities commission said Saturday.

The priority orders are to remain in effect until late October, which normally is around December 1, but sometimes earlier, through December, according to the weather.

It would be virtually impossible to anywhere near supply Ohio needs of fuel for December 1, even if there was a sufficient supply of coal, because distribution could not be made in time, according to L. C. Smith, chief inspector of the utilities commission.

The interstate commerce commission has set a hearing for Monday, when representatives from the Ohio utilities body will argue for modification of the orders. The national body also expects answers from Michigan and Indiana to attend.

Ohio consumers, according to Smith, now have only about 10 per cent of fuel requirements in bins, while ordinarily they would have 75 per cent.

Even now, Smith said, there is suffering in certain parts of the state. Ada was without heat, light and water for two days, and the schools were closed down, Smith said, because of lack of coal. A car of coal was sent to the town Saturday by the utilities commission.

All sections of the state are suffering equally from coal shortage, reports to the chief inspector show. There are even many requests for aid coming from the mining districts of Ohio.

The commission is a "furnishing coal to churches, in order that they will be no charges of discrimination in enforcing the priority orders," Smith declared.

Utilities Commissioners believe it will be dangerous to leave loaded coal cars on tracks, if the weather gets severe before the priority "emergency" rationing. They fear wholesale commandeering.

CLEVELAND ALARMED
CLEVELAND—Cleveland's coal situation is becoming more acute, according to F. H. Baer, traffic commissioner of the Chamber of Commerce. Two weeks ago the situation was bad, he said, now it is distressingly bad.

Retail coal dealers have no coal in their yards, he says. Orders placed last spring still are unfulfilled and many dealers are refusing new orders.

MANY CITIES TURNING BACK CLOCKS TODAY

While scores of other Ohio cities are straightening out their daylight "spring" trouble Sunday morning, Lima remains quiet without the confusion that is bound to follow the turning back of clocks, such as Lima went thru when timepieces were advanced an hour early last spring.

Many Councils throughout Ohio have recently repealed such ordinances and present indications are that a much fewer number of cities will disturb the hour hands next year.

CAR IS STOLEN

Antonio Miller, 912 W. Wayne-st., reported to police Saturday night the theft of a 1920 model Willis-Knight touring car, bearing Ohio license 280,965.

CASES DISMISSED

Cases of Otto H. Swisher the Lima Sanitary Rendering Co., and the West Side Coal Co., against Frank Benjamin were dismissed from the Allen-co common pleas court by Judge Kilgus.

FALL OF RUSSIAN SOVIET SEEN

Complete Collapse of Armies Near, Says Report.

PEASANTS PLAN UPRISING

Anti-Bolshevik Feeling Now Sweeping the Country.

LONDON—Complete overthrow of the Russian soviet government as the result of its present perilous military and economic situation was forecast in diplomatic circles here Saturday night.

Under pressure from the Poles on the west and General Wrangel on the south, the Bolshevik armies were reported to be crumbling and in danger of utter collapse. The morale of the troops, according to advices from Helsingfors, has been shattered by repeated defeats and mass meetings are being held on the western front at which demands are made for immediate peace.

The advisers came on the heels of the announcement that the governor General Budenny, noted Russian cavalry leader, who recently suffered a crushing defeat in the Lemberg region.

WORKERS ON STRIKE

With the military situation growing more gloomy, civilians in the interior are becoming restless, Helsingfors reported. In Petrograd most of the workers were said to have gone on strike. Their announced reason was the shortage of bread, but dispatches declared their real purpose was the overthrow of the soviet regime.

The obvious willingness of the Russian delegates at the Riga peace conference to make additional concessions to Poland was accepted here as further indication of the tenuous hold Lenin and Trotsky now have on the people.

UPRISING PLANNED

WASHINGTON—Russian peasants are plotting an uprising to overthrow the Bolshevik regime, according to advices to the government Saturday. These advices come on the heels of the press dispatchs that a wave of anti-Bolshevik feeling is sweeping Russia, coming from factory workers as well as peasants.

A definite organization of peasants for a revolution against the Moscow government, is taking shape, the advices state.

Recently emissaries of the union of peasants in soviet Russia passed thru Poland on their way to Paris, and London to report to these allied governments the plans for a revolution, according to government information.

AVIATOR DROWNS IN WRECK

Plane Plunges Into Lake Michigan As Engine Goes Wrong

LAKE BLUFF, Ill.—Failure of the engine to stop when the naval hydro-aeroplane N-9 hit into a nose dive Saturday, caused the plane to plunge into Lake Michigan, near here.

The plane sank a few minutes after it struck the water. Lieutenant Junior Grade Sidney Cedott, Chicago pilot, was drowned as he sat helpless and strapped in his seat.

Henry Batchelor, Saginaw, Mich., his companion was thrown from the plane as it plunged and fell into the lake. He swam to the wrecked plane where he endeavored to raise Cedott, but it sunk before he could do anything. Batchelor was rescued by another hydroplane which came to his assistance.

Authorities will examine the N-9's engine to ascertain why it failed to stop when Cedott attempted the nose dive. The N-9 was maneuvering between Lake Forest and Fort Sheridan when the accident occurred.

CRANE'S FUNERAL TO BE HELD MONDAY

DALTON, Mass.—Messages of condolence from prominent persons throughout the United States arrived Saturday night at the home of Former Senator Winthrop Murray Crane, who died at "Sugar Hill," the family home here, Saturday.

Arrangements were being made Saturday night for the funeral Monday at Sugar Hill. Burial will be in the town cemetery.

Crane, who was one of the most prominent Republicans in the United States and had been the Bay state's "harmonizer" in many bitter campaigns, himself filling the offices of lieutenant governor and governor and later United States senator and Republican national committee man, passed away while asleep. He had been suffering from sleeping sickness, accompanied by inflammation of the brain.

LUTHERAN PASTORS TO MEET
The Lima District Inter-Synodical Lutheran Pastoral Association will hold a meeting in the Zion Lutheran church, corner of Elizabeth and Wayne-sts., Monday morning at 10 o'clock. The Rev. Schultz, Wapakoneta, will discuss "The Religion of Church and State."

ANKLES EXAMINED TO SEE IF THEIR BEAUTY HAD SUFFERED $10,000 WORTH

CLEVELAND—Mrs. Edna Bickley, a pretty little woman, reviewed her stockings in common pleas court here Saturday and permitted the jury to examine her ankles to see whether their beauty had suffered $10,000 worth.

Mrs. Bickley started suit for that amount against the Chamberlain Haber Company for damages. She dropped a carboy of acid which splashed against her ankles.

"My ankles are still good looking but not compared to what they used to be," she told the interested jury-men.

The jurors took considerable time in their examination.

FREEDOM OF IRISH SEEN BY COX

Nation's Hope Lies in League, the Governor Says.

ENDS HIS WESTERN TOUR

Leaves for Ohio After Invading Twenty-two States.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Governor James M. Cox swung down the curtain of his western tour before a huge crowd in the big convention hall here Saturday night by predicting that "before very long Ireland will be free," and by asserting that he hoped for permanent independence lies in the league of nations.

He characterized as "decadent propaganda" the belief apparently current among some Irish-Americans that if the United States joined the league she would be bound "to help Great Britain suppress Ireland's attempt to free herself."

The governor's view was that Ireland's fight for freedom was "international aggression" and that the covenant, particularly article 10, provides that the members of the league agree to persevere only against external aggression "the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league."

IRELAND'S RIGHT
Ireland has the right under the league to wage "internal aggression" to establish any form of self-government that it desires, he asserted, in reiterating his pledge that if elected, he will bring the Irish question before the league.

"Article 10 has very direct bearing on the Irish question," Cox then told his audience in which were many Irish.

Cox's speech here Saturday night ended a tour which, starting a month ago Saturday, has taken him into 22 states. During that time, he has made 238 speeches and when he reaches Dayton Sunday night he will have traveled 9,975 miles.

To date Cox has invaded 27 states, including all those west of the Mississippi river, except Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas. With election day just a month off, he will concentrate his tour efforts in the east and middle west. Everywhere he has been received by large crowds and his friends are confident the tour has netted votes.

Most Everyone Has Pet Fidget—Have You?

Have you a special fidget? For if you have, it is certainly nothing, but as learned physicians say that not one person in a hundred can sit absolutely still for even five minutes in the presence of other people. They must either wrinkle their foreheads, tap their fingers on the arm of a chair or do some other nervous fidget quite unconsciously.

The truth is that most of these little habits are done without consciousness. Watch your friends when you are talking to them and you will be surprised to find what an extraordinary variety of fidgeting there is. Forehead wrinkling, eyebrow raising, chin stroking, folding and unfolding arms, screwing up eyes, and dozens of other forms can be seen anywhere any day.

Some persons always frown, not because they are angry or their eyes weak, but because it is just a habit. And many persons cannot get down to serious thought or concentration without tapping their foreheads with lead pencils, cigarette holders or anything that happens to be handy.

BORAH IS SILENT ON CAMPAIGN REPORTS

"I have nothing to say," said Borah, when asked about the dispatch.

HEROIC WORK SAVES SHIP
GALLOPPOLE, O.—Heroic work of the crew saved the government steamer Golden Rod from sinking when the boat struck an obstruction at Ohio river at 2:26, near Lima Saturday. A gaping hole was torn in the boat's hull. The steamer was on her way from Cincinnati to Pittsburg.

Steamer Is Sent to the Bottom in Severe Hurricane.

PARTY ADRIFT IN LIFEBOAT

Search Being Made for These Members of Crew.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Three men and two women are known to be dead; 13 others are missing and the steamship Speedwell, of the Speedwell Navigation company, is at the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico as a result of the hurricane that swept thru the gulf Wednesday night.

First word of the Speedwell's sinking was wireless here Saturday night by the City of Mobile, a Pacific and Orient boat, which said that it had eight survivors aboard and that in the lifeboat from which they were taken three men and two women were dead.

The City of Mobile reported it had sighted a lifeboat with 13 others in it and was trying to rescue the party.

The Speedwell was bound for New Orleans with a cargo of mahogany for the Otis Manufacturing Company and is supposed to have foundered in the storm. She carried a crew of 29.

Four lifeboats put away from the vessel, according to the survivor, and but two have been seen or heard of.

CREDIT BOARD FOR WORLD URGED

Plan Proposed at Brussels International Congress

BRUSSELS.—A plan for a new world commission to handle international credits was presented to the international financial congress Saturday by Tor Meulen, representing Holland.

Meulen's plan supposedly was a synopsis of the principal ideas presented at the conference and was similar to that offered Friday by Premier De La Croix of Belgium, but contained more details.

The proposed commission would consist of experts appointed by the league of nations. Creditor nations would secure the loans made them by issuing bonds based upon their revenues.

To decrease the effect of the difference in exchange rates on world trade and to accelerate international exchange of products, Meulen proposed an international commercial loan fund which would be placed at the disposal of importers in all countries, especially those where the unfavorable exchange rates prevents them from obtaining credits.

In order to administer the loan, Meulen would make the government responsible to the commission, giving governments complete freedom in private concerns. In this connection, he stipulated that individual governments should issue bonds based on their national assets.

Meulen suggested that the commission appointed by the league should distribute the fund in lump sums to the governments needing them. As security the latter would give mortgages on their revenues which the commission would foreclose in the event payments were defaulted, by taking over the administration of taxes. Individual governments would sub-loan their quotas to private importers needing credits for raw materials.

WOMEN MACCABEES WILL MEET IN LIMA, OCTOBER 7

The Women's Benefit Association of the Maccabees will hold the annual district convention in Lima Thursday October 7, with Allen Review 1917 acting as hostess.

The affair will include an afternoon and evening program and will be held in Central building. Reviews that will participate in the affair include: Spencerville, Van Wert, Delphos, Wapakoneta, Lima Lodge No. 43; Ohio City, Wren, Cridersville, Dunkirk, Ada, Forest, Kenton.

Mrs. Nellie C. V. Heppert, Akron great commander of the order, will also be present. The afternoon meeting will be given to ritualistic work, while the evening meeting will be open to Maccabees and friends of the order. An especially entertaining program has been arranged for the evening.

REPAIR OF LINE TO BE ASKED

ler asked the company concerning the loss of the pressure during the last few days.

Following is the letter addressed to Mayor Burkhart concerning the gas situation:

Hon. F. A. Burkhart, Mayor,
Lima, Ohio.

Dear Mayor Burkhart:

Your letter of October 1st, relative to existing conditions in the gas supply in this city and making certain demands, is at hand and noted upon my return to the city. I am answering at the earliest possible moment.

You are certainly fully informed as to the conditions under which the Lima Natural Gas Company is working at the present time, and the difficulty under which it is trying to fulfill its agreement with the City of Lima. The supply of natural gas is failing, and every possible source of supply is eagerly sought for by towns and cities. We have worked all summer in an effort to obtain an assured supply and a guaranteed pressure for a period of two years, which is something we never could get and consequently could not promise before. The reasons why that did not go through you are familiar with. Pending the consideration of the effort to obtain a new price which would enable us to carry out our tentative contract with The Medina Gas and Fuel Company, with which you are entirely familiar, a short was made in the Medina Company this city, and the work partially done; when the increased price was made in the Medina Company, it continued the work. The line is in such condition, which is not our fault, and is in such shape by reason of the interrupted supply, that a moderate pressure was all that could be expected, and that the ordinary summer and fall weather, but when this unusual and unexpected cold snap occurred, and the use of gas in heating as well as domestic use exceeded all calculations, of course there was a shortage until the pumps could be got to work and the gas forced down to here, which requires from twenty-four to thirty-six hours. During last night this was accomplished, and this morning we have a fair supply of gas, and have decided to decrease the pressure according to natural laws, with which all gas users and purveyors are familiar. You will note from the papers today that Cleveland, Columbus and many other Ohio cities which get their gas entirely in a distance, are in exactly the same condition as we are here in Lima.

All the other cities supplied by this Company, below Lima, are exactly in the same situation. In fact, they are worse off for Lima gets first. We are doing the best we can do, we have always stated that we would carry out our obligation to the City of Lima to the best of our ability, and we mean it. Now we are trying to do it. I have just returned from a trip out of town taking most of the week, made solely for the purpose of trying to make some new agreement whereby we can still have this line re-laid, keep service from being abandoned as the Medina Company is asking to have done, and assure some sort of a gas supply for this city for the winter. You know the terms of our present contract with the supply company; we are merely a distributing company, we cannot distribute what we cannot get and we cannot make any money except by getting and selling gas. Therefore, we are trying in every way we know how, to get gas to sell, and the more the better, for this is the only way this Company can stay in business. There is absolutely no feeling upon the part of myself or any officer of this Company, on account of the inability to get together with the city council on an increased price. I thought and believed, and still think and know, that the position was the best for all concerned, but the council thought otherwise, and the incident is closed. When our present price ordinance expires next year, the matter will come up again; we will meet that when it comes; but in the meantime, with full appreciation of the obligations resting upon this Company and myself as its president, to carry out our present contract to the best of our ability, that is exactly what we are doing and intend to do. I am worrying about it as much as any one person in Lima. I know, entirely outside the financial loss to the Company involved in having no gas to sell. I am always open to suggestions and advice; if you, or any one else, who knows anything about the matter, can advise us how we can do more than we are doing, the information will be gladly received and very much appreciated.

Very truly yours,
THE LIMA NATURAL GAS COMPANY,
By Emmett R. Curtis, President.

Altho there was very little coal in yards of Lima dealers Saturday, indications were that it will be more plentiful early this week, but that the price will continue to mount. Lump coal will be increasingly hard to get, they say.

Minor Evans, who just returned from a trip to the West Virginia coal fields, declared coal is available if the dealers could pay the price necessary to compete with foreign buyers.

"They are paying $17 a ton for pecanontas coal at the mines, the same coal I was trying to buy for $9," Evans declared. He said he will receive five cars of coal, probably Tuesday. This coal, he said, will sell for $13.50 a ton. His price has been $12.

MINES RUN ONLY

Paul Timmeiman of the Peerless Coal Co., declared mine run is practically the only coal obtainable. He said they have been unable to obtain lump coal.

The United Fuel Co., reported only about three cars of coal in the yards Saturday, including two cars of lump coal. They were expecting a shipment early next week.

The Erie Coal Co. reported coal in transit, due to arrive here early next week.

J. B. Dugan, chairman of the fuel commission, appointed by the Lima Chamber of Commerce, was out of the city Saturday, but it is expected the commission will take action of some kind early this week. Secretary Lincoln declared they were instructed to take necessary steps to provide fuel as soon as possible.

CONDITION SERIOUS

The cold weather which prevailed during the last half of the week created a serious condition, not only in Lima, but in the entire state, according to C. Smith, of the state public utilities commission. The situation "is serious right now," declared Smith Saturday. He called attention to the fact that the gas pressure has been down to one ounce here and that there is practically no coal.

The town of Ada, he said, has been without coal for light, heat or water protection for two days.

The utilities commission, Smith states, "is absolutely helpless," at present and unable to secure or furnish any coal for domestic consumers.

REFUSING CHURCHES

"All the coal we can get has to go to public utilities, schools and hospitals," he added. "We are refusing coal even to churches. The situation is general. Utilities located in the heart of the coal fields are as short of coal as those elsewhere."

Modification of the interstate commerce commission's priority order, which is effective until December 1, Smith said, offers the only remedy for the situation.

"There is no question but that cold weather would bring severe suffering," he added, pointing out that domestic consumers have only ten per cent of their water supply in their bins, as compared to the 75 per cent usual at this time.

"When cold weather comes I look for people to seize cars of coal standing on the tracks," Smith predicted. "That has happened before in Ohio, and I am afraid it will happen again unless the situation is remedied."

LIMA LODGEMENT TO ATTEND INITIATION

A delegation of members of Lima Council 435 Knights of Columbus, will go to Delphos Sunday to attend the initiation of a large class of candidates, to be held in the St. Johns auditorium. Mayor B. L. Jauman, recently appointed district deputy, will be in charge of the initiation, assisted by the Dayton degree team. A banquet at the hall, at which about 700 members will be in attendance, will close the ceremonies, which open Sunday morning with solemn high mass at St. Johns church.

TAKE SUNDAY DINNER AT THE NANKING

It will be far pleasanter to dine at the Nanking Restaurant today than to prepare a dinner at home. A table d'hôte dinner is served from 12 noon till 8 p. m. Prompt courteous service and Chinese and American dishes.

ALLEN-COX DRYERS ORGANIZE

The Allen-Cox Dry Federation has reorganized for the year, with W. A. Alsop as chairman. They have leased room 45 in the Metropolitan block. The federation will devote much of their time to insure the success of the Crabbe dry enforcement act which deals with prohibition law enforcement. On October 3 and 10th will be Anti-Saloon days in the county, with services in 49 different churches.

JULIAN TO SPEAK

Members of the Rotary club will hear an address Monday at their regular luncheon by Hon. W. A. Julian, Democratic candidate for United States senator. He will speak on "Business Today and the Future."

HAMILTON WILL SPEAK AT KIWANIS LUNCHEON

John L. Hamilton, Columbus, president of the American Guaranty Co., will be the speaker at the luncheon of the Kiwanis club Tuesday. His subject will be "America's Opportunity with Reference to Foreign Trade."

Hamilton was president of the American Bankers Association during Roosevelt's administration and at the time of the panic of 1907. He is widely known throughout by financiers and it is expected a large number of members and friends will hear his address here.

The meeting will be in charge of H. L. Kay, assisted by James Jolley and Harry O. Jones.

FORMER LIMA RESIDENT DIES AT MANTUA, OHIO

Following a stroke of apoplexy which he suffered Saturday morning, G. W. Harner, former Lima resident died shortly after noon Saturday at his home in Mantua, Ohio. The deceased who was 70 years of age, lived in Lima many years, leaving here about eight years ago for Mantua. Mrs. H. E. Anderson, 229 N. Main-st. is a daughter.

Other surviving children are: Edward Harner, Elida and Hershel Harner, also of Elida; W. V. Harner, Tulsa, Okla.; Oscar Harner with the U. S. Army; Harry Harner, California. The body will be accompanied to Lima, and funeral services will be held probably Tuesday.

DUFFY TO SPEAK BEFORE COX CLUB

Notice was received late Saturday afternoon from Columbus by L. E. Ludwig, chairman of the Allen-Cox club, that Hon. T. J. Duffy, a member of the state industrial commission of Ohio, will deliver an address in Lima on Friday evening, October 8, at 7:30 o'clock, in the court room at the court house, under the auspices of the Cox club. Col. E. B. Lewis will be the chairman of the meeting and representatives of labor are particularly invited to attend.

TWO ARRESTED

Two men giving their names Frank Mendes and Antonio Moran were arrested by police Saturday night on suspicion. Both gave their homes as Chicago.

BUSINESS ENGLISH MOST ASKED FOR AT Y. M. C. A.

Business English and a study of electric storage batteries are among studies most desired by members of the Lima Y. M. C. A., according to cards received by the educational committee.

A meeting of the committee has been called for Monday night to determine what classes will be held during the winter.

Cards mailed to members, asking them to state in what ones of a number of subjects they are interested, include public speaking, advertising, accounting, salesmanship, business English, arithmetic for mechanics, electric storage batteries, bookkeeping or law.

INTERNATIONAL SECY. OF Y TO SPEAK

Leonard A. Dixon, international secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and in charge of the Y. M. C. A. work in Mesopotamia during the wars, will address a conference of the board of directors and committeemen of the Lima Y. M. C. A. at Hephburn, near Marion Sunday. Rev. Jessie Swank will also speak.

Thirty members of the Lima "Y" will attend. It was announced Saturday, including R. J. Platte, Secretary Bradshaw, and Mayor Frank A. Burkhart. The party will leave by automobile at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, returning at 6 o'clock Sunday evening.

Dixon will speak at the Market-st. Presbyterian church Sunday evening.

MRS. LUCY RIDENOUR DIES EARLY SUNDAY

Mrs. Lucy Ridenour died at her home, 806 E. North-st., at 12:30 Sunday morning, of hemorrhages. She had been failing in health for the past six months.

She is survived by three sons, Terry and H. G. Ridenour, Lima, and M. T. Ridenour, of Shawnee-tp. and two sisters, Mrs. E. T. Boyd, 819 E. North-st., and Mrs. Walter Fox, Toledo.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed early Sunday morning.

INFANT'S FUNERAL MONDAY

Funeral services for Evelyn Rose Graft, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Graft, 155 Ewing-ave. will be held Monday morning at St. Gerard's church. Burial will be made in Gethsemani cemetery. The little girl was born December 16, 1914. Her death occurred Friday night following a several weeks' illness from heart trouble. The parents and a baby sister survive.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our neighbors and friends for their kindness during the sickness and death of our dear husband and father. Also for the beautiful flowers and those who so kindly donated cars.

Mr. Orange Blossom

A Wedding Ring for Gentlemen

THIS Orange Blossom Ring bears the same beautiful design found on the original Orange Blossom Wedding Ring and on the Orange Blossom mounting. But it is heavier, more substantial and more masculine. Its simple, rugged, unostentatious beauty will appeal instantly to men.

The double-ring ceremony is gaining in popularity, and to meet the ever increasing demand for a suitable man's wedding ring this Orange Blossom number was created. Its particular appeal lies in the fact it matches perfectly the bride's Orange Blossom Wedding Ring. The same design, the same graceful modeling, all made more substantial and manly to suit the groom. Fashion's dictates have unanimously decreed that the modern bride should wear the Orange Blossom Engagement Wedding Ring to match her Orange Blossom Engagement mounting. What more fitting than that the groom signify his vows in the same delightfully expressive manner?

HARDING STATES RURAL PROGRAM

G. O. P. Nominee Finds League Issue Troublesome.

WEST JEFFERSON, Ohio — (By United Press) — An old-fashioned farmers' basket picnic and barbecue at Wilson's Grove, near here, offered the setting for Warren G. Harding's speech Saturday.

Leaving Marion after breakfast, Harding motored to Wilson's Grove, where it was planned to have ten thousand or more farmers gathered from the great central Ohio corn belt.

Harding spoke briefly on agriculture, declaring the welfare of the American farmer is the welfare of the American people. Hundreds of farmers throut the neighboring counties were up at daybreak and drove miles in their automobiles, laden with baskets of fried chicken, home-made pies and cakes for the picnic.

Harding advocated: First, government aid to farmers purchasing land; second, cheaper distribution of farm products thru cooperative marketing and more efficient rail and motor transportation; and, third, protection of American agriculture products from cheaper foreign competition.

The Republican nominee is finding the league of nations issue the most troublesome of his campaign. Headquarters still professed ignorance regarding the alleged intention of Senator Borah, Idaho, a treaty irreconcilable, to quit the stump. At the same time, Harding sent a telegram to Edward A. Ryan, Washington, D. C., the backler who interrupted him at the Baltimore meeting, declining flatly to state more fully his attitude on the league issue. Ryan had asked Harding if he favored scrapping the league, and was arrested by the police. He followed this with a telegram to Harding, repeating the question. Repeating, Harding expressed regret for the arrest of Ryan, but declared he could not agree to answer the question just as Ryan chose to frame and adder that his task was to harmonize views of different groups, so that a policy could be adopted which would have the united support of the country behind it.

Pete was giving a free demonstration of the "bull in a china shop" adage when a policeman arrived and shot him.

Pete was Kozak's horse and the dog that started all the trouble had the rabies.

Sessions at Christ Church, October 12 and 13.

The dates of October 12 and 13th have been decided for the 1920 session of the Allen-co Sunday school convention, to be held in Lima at the Central Church of Christ. Every Sunday school in the county will send at least one delegate for every 20 pupils enrolled.

This will be the first convention to be held under the supervision of the state association, and is expected to exceed any of previous years in attendance.

F. C. Kattner, of the state association, district director for Allen and four nearby counties, will be present. Mr. Kattner spent the past three years in Boston University, studying Sunday school work and social conditions, and comes as a specialist in these lines.

There will be afternoon and evening sessions both days, and the committee in charge promises an interesting program for each session.

COX VISIT STIRS BIG INTEREST

"Fighting Governor" to Speak in Lima on October 14.

DONAHEY 'GOES AFTER' DAVIS

Fine Speakers to Be Heard at Memorial Hall To-Morrow.

Announcement of the coming of Governor Cox to Lima on Thursday, October 14, has proven a real stimulant in Democratic circles locally. The Democratic candidate for President is completing a tour of the far west and made such an excellent impression with the voters in the states he visited that special political writers, some of them probably reluctant, are forced to admit that he has "won the west."

In fact, some of the best writers who have been analyzing sentiment in the states west of the Mississippi are a unit in the agreement that Governor Cox will carry states that are confidently being claimed by the Republican leaders. Sentiment in Kansas is declared to be stronger for Cox than it was for Wilson in 1916, when the President carried the Sunflower state by 13,000. David Lawrence, one of the best known national writers, states unreservedly that Cox will win Utah on the League issue.

The sentiment in southern California is so practically unanimous for the League, newspaper correspondents state, that editors of Republican newspapers, seeing the drift to Cox and the Democratic party, are denigrating Harding and the anti-League crowd. One of the most notable examples of the acquisition of the support of Republican newspapers for Cox and the League is the Republican paper at Fresno. It is not probable that the southern California vote will offset the possible Republican vote upstate, where Senator Johnson is strongest and where his anti-League fight may run better results.

Governor Cox completes a tour of Indiana on October 13, at Ellettsburg, coming into the home state on the 14th, to make speeches at Indianapolis and Lima. It is stated that the Governor's address in Lima will be delivered at Memorial Hall at 11 a. m., as he is to speak at Springfield the evening of the 14th. The Governor is expected to come to Lima over the Penna. R. R. making a stop at Piquette. Arrangements of a comprehensive character will be made by the officers of the Allen-Cox club for the Lima meeting.

A. V. Donahey, Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio, isn't the least bit dismayed over the campaign effort of his opponent Harry L. Davis, former Mayor of Cleveland, is making and is meeting the flings of the money warring Clevelanders with facts that give Harry L. a jar every time the money saving state auditor swings on him. Part of the Republican propaganda against Donahey is the raising of the religious issue. It has even penetrated Lima and among the women at that. Certain women of this good city, where the truth is generally looked upon as one of the cardinal virtues and charity much to be desired, have been industriously spreading the report that A. Victor is a member of a certain church that is the object of attacks by those who know little or nothing about it, save and except that they are "again it" on general principles.

As a matter of fact, Vic Donahey is a member of the Methodist church, and carries with him from the past of his church one of the finest testimonials it has ever been the good pleasure of this writer to read. Vic is not only a Christian gentleman, but is a broad minded one at that. Had he been brought up in the faith his political enemies ascribe to him, he would be just as proud of it as he is of his membership in the little Methodist church at Shepard, Ohio. He is a veritable Rooseveltian exponent of the idea of fighting "race suicide," as he is the father of some thirty like a dozen children—and thirty proud of every one of them. Then they say he's accepting big campaign contributions. Vic played individual contributions to his campaign fund at $1 from each person and he's getting a lot of dollars. He's one of the "common people" Lincoln used to speak about. An ardent supporter of the League, a few days ago at Columbus Vic endeavored to induce Vic to accept from him a $500 contribution to his campaign fund, but Donahey refused.

How? Vic, himself a prototype of Honest Abe, is in the fight now "with his coat off," as he puts it, and says he "has his back to the wall" and is going to stamp every inch of Ohio. Donahey finds just two issues between himself and his opponent. "They are," he said, "moral and economic and on these two I'm going to make the rest of my campaign."

When State Chairman W. W. Durbin learned that Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas was to be brought into Ohio to aid the Davis candidacy, he sent the following telegram to the Kansas Governor: "I note you are coming to tell Ohio voters what to do. You advertise you spent 80 cents to obtain your nomination. Will you, in Ohio, tell the voters what you think of Harry L. Davis, Republican candidate for Governor, who in a worn statement admitted he spent $12,000, which is more than twice the salary for a term as Governor? Will you be fair enough to the voters, to discuss the record of Davis and the cause of crime and spending in Cleveland while he was Mayor?"

The old saying, "give a call enough time," etc., seems to be pretty well proved over in Auglaizeco, where the Republican party organ goes sad out of time, endeavoring to imitate the style of the candidate in denying a second term to J. J.

Kenney, Democratic county clerk, in favor of one Albert Blum, former assistant postmaster at Wapakoneta. The Democratic paper challenges the Republican organ in a spirited manner and hits back in this fashion: "In an attempt to camouflage the issue and to hide from the public the fact that the Republican candidate for Clerk of Courts is a millionaire around the necks of the balance of the county ticket and that he is absolutely unfit for the place he seeks and no doubt unqualified to fill it should he be elected, the Auglaize Republican by sinister remarks has for the past several weeks been poking fun at the issue. The Republican organ, without citing a single solitary, specific instance where the present incumbent has failed to perform the duties of his office in an able and courteous manner, persists in printing silly and nasty statements reflecting on Mr. Kenney and his office." The Democratic newspaper goes on to state that Mr. Kenney's office is one of the most efficiently conducted in the state of Ohio and challenges the Republican to prove to the contrary. The Wapakoneta paper which calls the Republican to an accounting for its wild charges, and for advancing the Republican candidate as a "model efficiency." Under the circumstances and in view of the facts as they are known to exist, if the voters of Auglaizeco do not accord John J. Kenney an overwhelming majority in election for a second term, then indeed will the people of that county have departed from their former well established record for rewarding service well done and rebuking political chicanery.

Lima and Allen-co people will be afforded the opportunity tomorrow of hearing a galaxy of speakers in presenting the issues of the campaign in a fair and impartial manner. The Democratic committee for no small amount of pride in being able to present to the woman voters one of their own sex, Mrs. Izetta Jewel Brown, who won for herself the plaudits of the delegates and visitors to attend, since at the Democratic national convention in San Francisco. All Allen-co people who heard her in San Francisco have a glowing recollection of her ability as an orator. Every woman in Allen-co, irrespective of her political affiliation, should hear Mrs. Brown, who will speak at Memorial Hall at 2 p. m. Monday. She will have a message of the greatest importance for women.

At the same time, two other prominent speakers will be presented, W. B. Wilson, secretary of labor in the President's cabinet and W. A. Julian, Democratic candidate for United States Senator. Mr. Wilson is expected to confine his address to the League of Nations and Mr. Julian will have a message for Allen countians, men and women, that none can well afford to miss hearing. Everybody is invited.

Resourceful Republicans, ever seeking devices to reach the hearts of voters to entice their aid in the election, were at a loss to know just how to properly enlist the feminine attention and assistance until some brilliant genius evolved the idea of presenting the new voters with cute little mirrors, just the right size to fit into the change pocket of the new fall suit. And they are to be supplied free. Since free gifts are never greatly appreciated, it is difficult to understand just how the Republican organization figures it that an expenditure of $30,000—a more trifling part of the $15,000,000,000 fund for mirrors is justified. It's a junior edition of the trench mirror, made of shiny metal. It is doubtful if the women will appreciate this silly attempt to entice their votes.

As the campaign progresses, Allen-co Democratic leaders become increasingly confident that this county will give Governor Cox for President and A. V. Donahey for Governor and the other candidates for state, district and county offices good majorities. There is no hint of scandal, no suggestion of incompetency and no charge of lack of proper service among the Democratic office holders asking for a second term. These candidates and also those who have been nominated on the Democratic ticket for the first time are men of such character and such ability that no one should hesitate to or be ashamed of supporting them.

"That the government lavished too many luxuries upon the four million young Americans who saw service in the world war," is the charge made in the Republican text book, which makes the statement that "the cost per soldier per day expenditure for the United States, it is estimated, was from four to six times the per soldier day costs of France." The Republican managers appear to fail to understand that this is an insult to every American boy who wore a soldier's uniform during the world war. Every American soldier knows how the French paid him to live, the clothing he had to wear and the food he had to eat. The Poilu received the equivalent of five cents a day, while the American soldier received

$1 and up. Furthermore, France did not have to send her troops across the sea and transport food, clothing and supplies across the ocean.

If Harry L. Davis, Republican candidate for Governor, is convicted of violating the corrupt practices act, L. B. Tussing, Columbus lawyer, will have to do the convicting. Attorney General Price shows no signs of taking up the case. Tussing started out in the role of affording the tip and has already been asked by Price to act as prosecuting witness. Further signs indicate that Tussing will also have to be the prosecutor. Price is in an embarrassing position. He is a candidate for reelection on the same ticket with Davis. If he should go after Davis, as he really should under the law, since Davis' statement admits he violated the law in a serious manner by expending $43,000 to attain his nomination, Price will be in the position of injuring the entire Republican ticket. If he doesn't act, it will be an other case of the Republicans sacrificing justice to political expediency.

It is understood that both Cox and Harding are to be turned loose in Ohio during the closing week of the campaign, to speak in all the larger centers of population, in the last mad scramble of their effort to carry the Buckeye state. If plans now said to be in the formative stage are carried into effect along this line, there'll be fur flying.

Political statisticians have it all doped out that as many as 2,250,000 voters of Ohio, men and women, will cast their votes in this state in November. Secretary of State Smith estimates that the possible vote will be between 200,000 and 2,300,000. He anticipates that about 800,000 women will vote. This is a higher estimate than has been submitted by unofficial election experts, who place the number of votes at about 250,000, or only 33 per cent of the vote anticipated by the state supervisor of elections.

Prohibitionists of Ohio are not intending to submit to circumstances that work to deprive them of the opportunity to vote for Dr. Aaron Watkins, their candidate for President. Altho their national and state ticket

A Wire For Every Wish

The home that's wired for ceiling lights only is only half wired. It's wall sockets and switch-plugs—here, there, everywhere—that make the home complete. There is one for every wish. In the bedroom have one handy for the curling iron—in the dining room don't forget a floor connection for toaster and percolator. In the living room remove the unsightly cord from the ceiling—a plug in the base-board will do it.

It's never too late. If your house is old, new or still in construction, your wiring can be made complete. Expert electricians ready to consult with you without charge or obligation.

PATHE SAPPHIRE BALL

THERE is no secret difference in the Pathe. The duplication instead of mere reproduction of the living voices of the artists is due to the Pathe Sapphire Ball, which fits and fills the record grooves, so always giving the full tone value without wearing out either sapphire or record.

Interesting comparisons of the various methods of reproduction of sound and of the various discs in use—emphasize the superiority of the Pathe Sapphire Ball for duplicating the actual rendition of the artists. The "Scientific American" rightly says, "to have proper tone rendering, the stylus or needle must fit and fill the slot exactly; if too small, it will be thrown from side to side, giving false tones; if too big it will give trouble by jamming, and causing excessive wear of the record." A steel needle wears out the record as quickly as it wears itself out and never fits the slot. The Pathe Sapphire Ball never wears out and always fits and fills the slot.

Scripps-Booth

PERFECT utility and convenience is the Scripps-Booth idea of "completely equipped".

The tools, for instance, are carried in neat individual compartments in the left front door. The curtains are mounted on steel frames and may be placed in position in a few minutes where they open with the doors. When not in use, they are filed in a "ready-to-put-up" condition in a convenient compartment. All instruments are mounted in a well-lighted group on the instrument board which even contains a spotlight socket and a glove box. A tonneau light, imbedded in the back of the front seat, may be pulled from its socket and used as a searchlight. The headlights are furnished with Non-glare Lens. An Alemite High-Pressure Lubricating System simply, yet efficiently, lubricates all necessary parts of the chassis.

Throughout, the new Scripps-Booth is a car of wonderfully worked out utility and convenience.

OTHER CITIES WAIT KENTON DOES IT

Housing Problem Solved by Neighboring City as Factory Expands.

KENTON—While other cities have been talking about it, Kenton has done it, and as a result the Champion Engineering Company here has accomplished refinancing to the amount of three quarters of a million and built houses for its men.

A handsome new addition, 60x400 feet in size, will soon be ready to open, while the housing development of the plant will offer modern homes to Department heads and employees of the company. This is largely being accomplished thru the R. L. Dollings Co.

Kenton is preparing for a dedication ceremony of the new plant and has broadcast the great financial plan which made it possible to raise the capital and permit housing expansion at a time when other cities found it almost impossible to do so. Additions have been made in an effort to speed up production of the Champion Electric Cranes and the plant now employing 300 men will soon add another hundred. In addition to the improvements, within a few months contracts will be let for a new foundry extension, with Yard Crane equipment.

The plant of the Champion Engineering Co. lies inside of the corporation limits of Kenton, immediately south of the Erie Railroad tracks. W. C. McVicker, special representative of R. L. Dollings company has been in charge of the financial campaign in behalf of the Newton company.

Your Plain Wedding Ring Can Be Modernized

HAVEN'T you often wished that your old fashioned gold wedding ring could be made to appear to better advantage beside your newer fancy platinum rings?

The ingenuity and skill of modern craftsmen make it possible to make over any old fashioned wedding ring of whatsoever width, make or conformation, into a beautiful new Orange Blossom design shown here. It can be done over at a nominal cost—the ring is not cut, the inscription is not harmed, nor is the cherished sentiment of the wedding circlet destroyed. Let us tell you more of this work and show you how wonderful is the transformation.

USED CARS
BACK TO THE OLD PRICES

New Overland cars have been reduced to the old prices, other cars have been cut and still others will be cut. Realizing that we would never be able to get our cost out of our stock of used cars, we revised our prices, cutting and slashing into our costs until our loss will run up into thousands of dollars. You get the benefit. Our used cars are now at rock bottom prices. Monthly terms on any car.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

THE week has been filled with chaotic developments in some lines, especially the automobile trade. The trend has been reactionary, further forecasting the readjustment and price reductions to come in lines which have not yet made that adjustment.

Summarized, evidence is already at hand of declines in virtually all commodities and manufactures, except hardware and electrical supplies. As these form a part of building, it is interesting to note that there has been no increase in demand for lumber at present levels. Hesitation still marks the textile industry.

Labor is more plentiful through Ohio and transportation shows great improvement. One big trunk line is handling seaboard to Chicago freight deliveries on a schedule of five days and has been maintaining that schedule.

In credit, demand has slackened in many localities but it is still persistent at Lima banks. Merchants, usually keen and on the bit in their respective lines, are financing themselves by the reduction of inventories, and tightening of charge accounts. They also will take any losses they must take before the end of the income taxing year. Charge accounts are being more closely watched by Lima merchants than in years, and thirty days is being considered sufficient for the average customer.

Locally, railroads continue to show increasing rather than declining payrolls. Some industrials have slackened, but in the main there is no plentiful supply of labor in Lima. Real estate is firm, especially in the downtown section; and little changing is occurring in residential properties. Contractors are content to wait until spring and architects forecast good building operations within another six months.

Farmers continue to sell wherever a cash market is available. The sugar beet crop north of us is very large and fruit also is being heavily marketed. Little corn has been injured and cutting is well under way.

While it has been a week to keep the man with invested capital uneasy, it has been remarkably broad and hopeful. New York is still bearish and leaning to bonds, rather than stocks. The announcement by the government that it will go into the market and purchase $75,000,000 Liberty bonds for retirement, has steadied that issue. It is believed this amount would take up the floating supply and cause Liberties to move forward to at least near par.

ELECTING A U. S. SENATOR

QUALITY as important as the election of a President and a Governor is the choosing of a United States Senator. This year both parties have accepted the League of Nations as the paramount issue. The final determination of this great question rests solely upon the action of the United States Senate. It is the only constituted legislative body in this country authorized to pass or reject the treaty.

The political complexion of the next senate will be decided by the voters in the November elections. The present senate is composed of 47 Democrats and 49 Republicans. Thirty-two states elect senators this fall. Seventeen of these states are represented by Democrats, whose terms expire next March. Fifteen states are represented by Republicans. Nine of the states having senatorial elections are in the south.

In the remaining 23 states the Republicans cannot safely count on more than half a dozen, which leaves 17 states in the doubtful column. The chances for Democratic success in doubtful states are better than those of the Republicans. The battle ground for control of the senate is located in these 17 states. One state may change the political control of the senate.

Therefore, the result in Ohio this fall is doubly important. The voters must choose between a progressive, successful business man in the person of W. A. Julian on the Democratic ticket, or a reactionary, professional politician in the person of Frank B. Willis, who has been a continuous office seeker for 21 years and who as Governor made the state of Ohio the laughing stock of the country until the voters had the opportunity to retire him.

William A. Julian, the Democratic candidate for United States Senator, stands with Governor Cox for the League of Nations. He stands on the forward looking, progressive Democratic platform. Willis, reactionary, has the support of the "Old Guard" standpat Republicans. Julian stands for peace, prosperity and progress.

Many of the leading Republicans of Lima and Allen-co, disgusted with Willis and his record, have openly declared for Julian, who they know is a successful business man and who can be entrusted to represent this state in the upper house of congress. Mr. Julian will be one of the speakers at a meeting to be held at Memorial Hall tomorrow afternoon. He will have a message that all should hear.

A STRANGE LIFE PASSION

JOSEPH Browne Elwell, who was found dead in his apartment in New York City recently with a bullet hole in his head, had just one passion, aside from his love of woman, in his life. That was for whist. His life, it is said, centered about the game; it was at a whist party where he met his first wife and it was by playing whist for high stakes that he made a considerable part of his income—one, five, ten, even thirty thousand dollars a night, it was said. He had written a book on whist, the best of its kind, and his library contained practically everything about the game that has ever been published.

Until one learns to gamble with it, whist is not a profitable occupation, those who have tried it aver. It was Elwell's passion long before he made money with it. He took to it as some men take to the arts, to business, to engineering, to foreign travel, to investigation in the sciences. This perfectly useless game, yielding no value whatever in any form to any person beyond the bets placed on it, was Elwell's excuse for being on earth. He came out of mystery to play whist and having finished whist, he went out again into mystery.

For he died, his friends have stated, after his game began to fall off. He could no longer remember the cards thru an entire sitting, as he was once able to do and for fear his reputation would suffer, he would not play. He had lost his grip on the only thing on earth he really cared about.

MISS LIMA: "Colonel House may have found out a lot of things on the other side, but he isn't telling anybody about it."

Women's Questions Answered

Q. Is there any particular reason why the women of America should vote for the League of Nations?
A. There are 1,000 reasons why the women should vote for the League. They are your 1,000 sons and brothers and husbands who fought and died in France to make an end of war.

We must keep the faith with those who died. Senator Harding says the League of Nations means war. If so, why does every munition maker, every gun maker and every interest that waxes fat when nations arm to the teeth and men go forth to war, open their check books and use their influence to elect Harding? Senator Harding says he is against the League.

RULING PASSION STRONG IN DEATH

"Barasa came running to meet me, saluted, and told me that the magistrate had fallen off his veranda and had been killed, and that he was calling loudly for whisky,"—Red Book Magazine.

The health officer of Chicago warns us that another flu epidemic is coming, so it is best now to know the precautions to take when you get the ailment. They are these, according to the best authorities:
Stay in bed, stay out of doors, don't breathe cold air, don't breathe hot air, or sit still all day.

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT TODAY

The morning hours of this day will be especially lucky. Nervous disorders will be common under this rule, and a placid state of mind should be cultivated.
It is not a lucky day for domesticity, since there are likely to be many family quarrels while this influence prevails.
The stars predict a menace to the Pacific coast.
The death of a public man will plunge the nation into mourning this month.
The persons whose birthday this is should guard their health.
Children born today will be reckless and headstrong.

That the card club prize is going to be something that the hostess won at a previous meeting.
That education is a great thing. Chorus girls ride in limousines while school teachers walk to work.
That a woman's watch is great to tuck down a stair carpet with or to throw at a cat.
That it is no fun to smoke a cigar when nobody is looking.
That the woman who occupied the apartment last had perfectly atrocious taste in wall paper.
That if she stopped to the door and called, "Here, Kitty, Kitty," all the women in the neighborhood would have to come a-running if they were perfectly honest about it.

The average voter knows which side his bread is buttered on—just now.

HEALTH HINTS FOR TODAY

A DIRGE IN H MINOR (SAMN OLD HARP)

A hard-headed nose and throat specialist, who had just removed a splinter of an adenoid from a little patient dear to me, observed that few of us realize how large a share of the general illness that physicians treat may be traced to common colds. Whereupon I picked up my preternaturally long ears and brayed: "You mean respiratory infections when you speak of colds, I suppose?" The specialist agreed that they are all bacterial infections, yet he drugged in the weather. "Damp, cold, dark days make people feel gloomy and depressed," he said. "That weakens their resistance in itself. Furthermore, people do not go outdoors to get the sun and air so much on cold or damp days, and that tends to render them more susceptible to common colds."

"Respiratory infections," I amended. "These colds are respiratory infections, certainly," the specialist agreed for I had summoned him to consult on the case, hadn't I? "But I think we can consider unfavorable weather conditions as predisposing causes," he sidestepped as we passed.

The moral of this story is that obnoxious die hard. The specialist insisted on dragging in the weather and cold and dampness altho he freely admitted and believed that resistance against the respiratory diseases is lowered only by avoiding the weather.

Ours is a noble profession, with a great deal more scientific accuracy than the funny papers and the innumerable short-cut or fad healers like to grant us. But on the catching cold question we cut a sorry figure, trying to advance and stand still at the same time.

Few people realize that such diseases as appendicitis, valvular heart disease, acute multiple arthritis (inflammation of rheumatism), rheumatoid fever, arthritis, rheumatism, and meningitis are commonly the complications or sequels of trifling ailments wrongly called "colds." All the colon bacillus infection from the intestinal tract itself is the most frequent cause of acute appendicitis. Pneumococcus infection from the throat or nose is a close second—often the young person develops the appendicitis before the sore throat, tonsillitis or coryza is entirely over. When the versatile streptococcus happens to be the responsible germ, the alleged "cold" is more likely to prove nothing more than a mere local disturbance excited by the invading germs which soon reach the heart valves, joint cavities or brain cavity as the case may be. These so-called "simple colds" are a prolific source of work for specialists and surgeons as well as family doctors. A good many of us would have to close up shop and find other work if people did not adhere to the superstition that respiratory troubles are caused by cold, wet or exposure. It will require some twenty years yet to teach any considerable share of the people that all alleged "colds" are infectious diseases communicated precisely in the same manner that diphtheria is communicated. When that truth becomes widely known, there is going to be a vast decline in the sickness and death rates which are at present maintained largely by preventable respiratory infections.

PHONOCRAPHS AND RECORDS

What music lovers discovered in the Brunswick Method of Reproduction

WHEN all is said and done, when every comparison is made, final judgment of any phonograph rests in the tone. All else is secondary.

And it is in this important particular that the Brunswick Phonograph won its fame.

Its cabinet work was taken for granted as of the finest, for the House of Brunswick has been noted for its craftsmanship in wood-working for 76 years.

A surprise for all

What a revelation, however, came when music lovers became acquainted with The Brunswick! Old harshness is gone.

Much of the improvement is due to the Brunswick Tone Amplifier, built entirely of selected, seasoned wood.

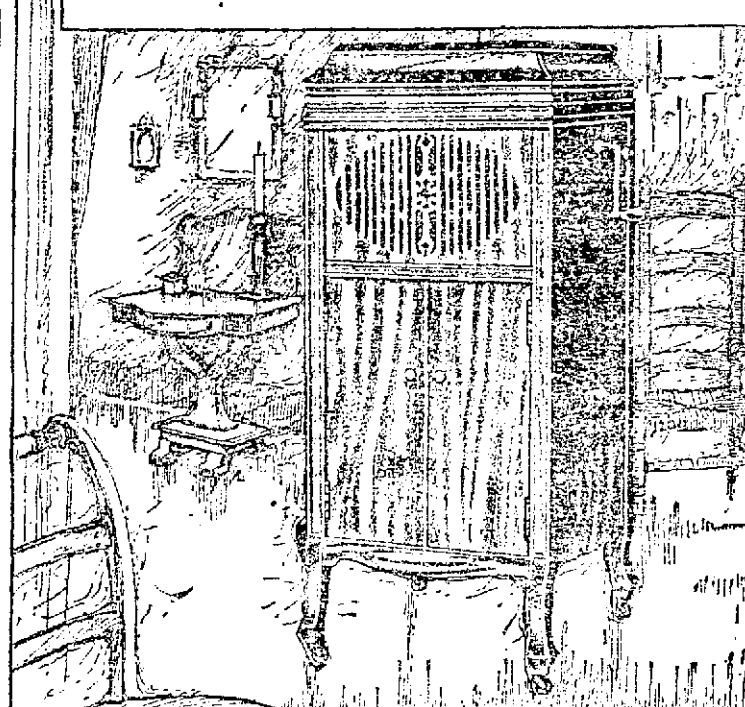

Another great advancement, and exclusively Brunswick today, is the Ultona, an all-record reproducer.

These and other advancements have been combined and related in an instrument made entirely by the House of Brunswick.

Proof of the superiority of Brunswick Phonographs is coming in, hearing them and making comparisons.

Scripps-Booth

PERFECT utility and convenience is the Scripps-Booth idea of "completely equipped".

The tools, for instance, are carried in neat individual compartments in the left front door. The curtains are mounted on steel frames and may be placed in position in a few minutes where they open with the doors. When not in use, they are filed in a "ready-to-put-up" condition in a convenient compartment. All instruments are mounted in a well-lighted group on the instrument board which even contains a spotlight socket and a glove box. A tonneau light, imbedded in the back of the front seat, may be pulled from its socket and used as a searchlight. The headlights are furnished with Non-glare Lens. An Alenite High-Pressure Lubricating System simply, yet efficiently, lubricates all necessary parts of the chassis.

Throughout, the new Scripps-Booth is a car of wonderfully worked out utility and convenience.

HIS DREAMS COME TRUE
"A Biltrite Home"

"A wife with surroundings that makes home coming a pleasure."

You, too, have had these dreams and can make them a reality by surrounding your wife WITH ONE OF OUR ARTISTIC AND COZY MARIAN AVENUE HOMES.

We call them "THE BILTRITE HOMES" because the service is built in them.

All through the construction—

This one thought prevails—

To build a house that will serve the one who buys it.

There are six rooms in these houses.

The floors down stairs are hard wood.

The floors up stairs are finished pine.

They have bath, furnace, electric lights and gas.

The basements are full basements.

HARDING SPEAKS AT PICNIC

Christened "Uncle Warren" by Farmer at Wilson's Corners

WEST JEFFERSON — Senator Harding was christened "Uncle Warren" when he attended an old-fashioned picnic in a grove at Wilson's Corners, near here Saturday.

As Harding stepped out of his motor car, a gray-bearded farmer back in the crowd, shouted: "Hurrah for Uncle Warren!" The farmers took it up and Harding was "Uncle Warren" for the rest of the day.

Harding drove 50 miles from Marion, arriving just in time to sit down to a big fried chicken dinner with all the country trimmings. Heads were bowed for a minute while a pious said grace. Then everyone plunged into the heaping plates, winding up with home-made pie. Senator Harding later dedicated a flag-pole, and then led the crowd over to a big tent where he spoke.

"Uncle Sam" Robinson, the village blacksmith, presented the candidate with a silver horseshoe, saying he hoped Harding would "pitch a ring" November 2.

A religious feeling pervaded the atmosphere in the heart of Ohio's most strongly Republican district. Taking note of this, Senator Harding said he wants a solemn invocation spoken from the hearts of all America, if he is elected president.

TRACKS BLOCKED

B. & O. Trains Held up by Wreck of Box Car

The double tracks of the B. and O. R. R. were blocked by the wreck of a box car at Elm-st at 4:10 Saturday afternoon, holding up passenger trains No. 55 and 54 more than an hour. No one was hurt.

The wreck occurred when a drawbar was pulled on the freight train in which the car was being hauled, causing it to buckle and break the air square in two. A wrecking crew was immediately called, and the track was cleared so that trains could pass at 5:40.

U. S. MARINE BAND COMING TO LIMA

While the annual concert tour of the U. S. Marine Band is only an incident of its activities, it is one of the greatest inducements that musicians of the highest rank find in membership. The Band is one of the great institutions of the Capital of the United States. Its audience is large and devoted, yet it is on tour that it has the advantage of an audience and programs selected with the view not only to its own best interests, but to the desires of its patrons. Moreover, even so great an organization as the Marine Band cannot expect fully to dominate attention as it plays in the shadow of the U. S. Capitol or of the Washington Monument. The band was never heard to better advantage than on its present tour under the direction of the Radcliffe Enterprises. It is proper to refer to this as an annual tour, as it requires a series long conducted by W. L. Radcliffe and interrupted for five years by war conditions.

The United States Marine Band will be heard in this city on October 12th, at the Memorial Hall. Mr. Tony Zender, local music dealer, is completing the arrangements.

THREE DIVORCE CASES: TWO DEGREES GRANTED

Two divorces were granted in the Allen-co common pleas court Saturday and another taken under advisement.

Leona E. Lackey was granted a divorce from Charles N. Lackey and was restored to her former name. Extreme cruelty was given as the grounds for divorce.

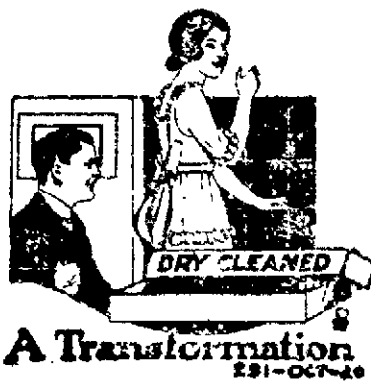

Rodney N. Beightol was granted a divorce from Sylvia Beightol on grounds of wilful absence for over three years.

Case of Lenola Logan against Francis Logan was taken under advisement by Judge Kilinger after hearing evidence of the plaintiff Saturday.

Our Greatest Years In the Stove Business--Here's the Interesting Part to You

When we made this contract we revised our selling basis and made three prices—and every stove is marked in plain figures.

- 1st. A Spot Cash Price for cash buyers.
- 2nd. A Time Price, with just enough added to the cash price to pay interest and bookkeeping.
- 3rd. A Mail Order Price, or "factory to you" as the mail order houses call it. This price cuts out all store expenses as goods go direct to you from Piqua, Ohio.

This plan takes care of all classes of buyers. The cash buyer does not help to pay for losses in bad accounts.

The time buyer pays a fair rate for carrying the account, just as you would at the bank.

CLEVELAND FOR FIRST TIME WINS FLAG IN AMERICAN

CLEVELAND.—For the first time in its American League baseball history, Cleveland Saturday night enjoyed the sensation of possessing a league championship. The fans are "ticked right down to the toes," and in their jubilation stand ready to bet the city hall that the Indians will be the next world's champions.

When the Cleveland team defeated the Tigers Saturday afternoon and sewed up the pennant beyond the reach of the White Sox, they crystallized the dreams of thousands of faithful fans who were beginning to believe that destiny was plotting against them. Several times they saw their teams within reaching distance of the top, only to have them hurled back. One year, they saw Cleveland lose the pennant to Detroit by a half-game.

This year, when the Indians were traveling at a cracking clip, late stepped in in the shape of a wild heave by Carl Mays, pitcher for the New York Yankees, the ball striking Ray Chapman, the Indians' brilliant shortstop, resulting in his death. The team slumped almost immediately and the fans back home figured the old hoodoo was at work again.

Fortunately for the Indians, they secured Walter Miller, a pitcher from the west, and Joe Sewell to take Chapman's place at short. Both delivered splendidly. Mays has won six games, one of them from the Chicago White Sox. This game kept the Indians in first place. Mays had to suffer a defeat after winning Cleveland. Sewell plays a brilliant game in the field and is batting around .310. His chief fault lies in his easy throwing to first and several errors have been charged up against him on that account.

CHICAGO CLOSE SECOND
Chicago gave the Indians a grueling battle and the finish would probably have been closer, else it was had not the game-throwing scandal robbed the White Sox of many star players.

Saturday was the decisive game. By losing the Indians would have given the Chicago White Sox a chance to tie them for the pennant. From the start, the Indians displayed determination and in the third inning opened up with three runs in the sixth, they captured two more in the seventh and in the eighth one. The Tigers made their only run in the ninth.

Oldham and Baumgarten held the mound for the Tigers and barely for the Indians. The scores:

NO EVIDENCE TO SHOW FOOTBALL IS COMING WORLD TILT ON IN FULL THRU WEST HAS BEEN FIXED

NEW YORK.—Brooklyn's National League champion ball club will go into the world's series Tuesday with hands officially clean.

District Attorney Lewis, who questioned the team members individually concerning the rumor going up and down Broadway and around the country that the 1920 series had been "fixed" completely exonerated the team.

"My investigations," he said, "have not disclosed the slightest attempt to fix the coming series. Not only have my investigations failed to disclose any facts that would lead me to believe that any Brooklyn player has been approached, but from my personal interview with them I would think it would be very dangerous for any gambler to approach any of them with a dishonest suggestion."

Charles H. Ebbetts, president of the club, and Wilbert Robinson, manager, appeared before the district attorney and were present when most of the players were questioned.

In addition to the 11 players who appeared Friday, the following were questioned Saturday:

Konetchy, Kilduff, Elliott, Milner, Nos. Marquard, Schmandt, Olson, Pfeiffer, Mitchell, Ward, McCabe and Lamar.

QUESTIONS GENERAL

The questions were along general lines, to learn if the players knew any of the gamblers mentioned in the Chicago grand jury hearing or if they had ever been approached by them.

Practically all of them denied a personal acquaintance. Some of them admitted a "bowing acquaintance," almost in the words of "Rube" Marquard.

"When I see Attell on the street, I say 'Hello, Abe' and he says, 'Hello, Rube'."

Another question was: "Would you throw a game for $10,000?"

Ward's answer was characteristic of all: "No, not even for my own father."

Ivan Olson, shortstop of the team, who was to have been called before the grand jury to explain some bets he made during the last world's series, was in the chamber longer than any of his team-mates.

DETH ON PAPER

He admitted betting on the series, but said he bet on Cincinnati to win because it was a National League team and he thought it would win. He is said to have had $1,000 on the first game.

It was learned that Olson and Pfeiffer were the only two members of the club to make winning bets on the series and they wagered on individual games.

All of the players questioned by the district attorney admitted an occasional bit of gambling from pinocchio to "two dollars on a horse race."

News spread around that a "bunch of the gang" was up at the district attorney's, attracted a crowd, mostly boys, that blocked the street in front of the building.

A passageway, an open lane of young fans, was cleared for the players to leave the building.

As Rube Marquard, first of a group of players, left the building, he noticed a battery of movie cameras and ducked his head.

"Don't hide your face, Rube," an urchin called out. "You ain't got nothing to be ashamed of."

APPLAUSE GOES UP
When it was noted about that the players had been exonerated, a din of applause went up.

President Ebbetts and Manager Robinson, made no statement.

While the players were being questioned in Brooklyn, District Attorney Swann, in Manhattan was trying to run down Abe Attell, mentioned in Chicago as "one of the fixers" of the last series.

Eugene McGee, member of the law firm retained by Attell, said he would not submit to questioning until indicted.

"If our men find Attell, he will come to our office all right," said Swann. "He has been openly boasting that he knew the men who fixed the series."

SECOND PLACE IS CINCHED

ST. LOUIS — Kid Gleason's sterling Sox clinched second place in the American League scramble here Saturday with a ten to seven win over the Browns.

Cleveland's victory at Detroit, however, showed the White Sox out of the fight for first place.

The Chicagoans Saturday felt little the loss of four parts of the formidable machine suspended because of implication in the fix of the 1919 world series. The new line-up slaughtered three Burkenman pitchers and registered 18 safe hits. They played errorless ball.

Kerr performed as expected on the slab. Altho he permitted 16 hits, he kept them scattered.

NEW DIRECTOR ARRIVES

I. G. Maxwell, new physical director at the Lima Y. M. C. A. arrived Saturday evening from Racine, Wisconsin.

Maxwell has had a number of years experience in this work, and according to Y. M. C. A. officials will get classes under way at once. Before going to Racine Maxwell was with the Y. M. C. A. at Milwaukee.

MASTER MIND WILL BE NAMED

CHICAGO — The "master mind" who directed the puppets involved in the fixing of the 1919 world series games and other big league contests, was expected to be named by the Cook-co grand jury when it resumes its investigations of baseball scandals Tuesday.

Clothed with the authority of a special inquisitorial body, the grand jury planned to dig into the nooks of baseball's crookedness until the indictments against all concerned have been obtained. The jury was made a special session Sunday when its regular term expired.

That names of additional baseball players and gamblers will be carried in the indictments to be returned was freely predicted by officials Saturday night. It was claimed that players in the National League and gamblers of New York, Indianapolis, Chicago, St. Louis and nearly a dozen other cities, had been implicated in evidence already obtained. The score of witnesses called for next week's sessions was expected to produce the intimate details of the picture of a gambler's syndicate to harvest thousands of dollars by "fixing" important games.

SULLIVAN TO TESTIFY
Sport Sullivan said to be a Boston gambler, was expected to reveal detailed activities of the betting ring before the jury Tuesday. Sullivan, according to reports, was volunteered to tell the whole history of the deal and the name of the big man who is said to have paid off the White Sox players.

Sullivan was named in indictments voted last week as one of the "gamblers connected with the throwing of the world's series to the Cincinnati Reds by eight White Sox players, whose indictments were voted Tuesday.

States Attorney Macfarlane, who conducted a personal investigation, claimed to have discovered new evidence against gamblers and baseball players which he plans to present to the grand jury Tuesday. He refused to intimate the trend of evidence, but denied Saturday that it concerned any 1921 games.

WINTON TO BE QUIZZED
Felix Benton, grand juror, was expected to reopen investigation of the charges that he was offered a bribe by Charles Herzog, owner of the Chicago Cubs, to fix the outcome of the 1919 world series. Benton also was believed to have information of gamblers, fixers and the jurors planned to quiz him regarding bets and tips alleged to have come from Hal Chase, Lee Mizzer and Heinie Zimmerman, former major league players.

Gambling scandals of the National League were to be gone into by George Kaffin, Fred Toney, Larry Doyle and other players appear to be questioning Tuesday. While none of these players are accused of betting, some of them are expected to have valuable information.

While awaiting return of indictments voted against them in connection with the last world's series, Jim Felsch, Buck Weaver, Fred McHugh and Swede Risberg, former Sox players, Saturday night completed plans for legal brains. Each protested his innocence of wrong doing in the series.

The complete re-organization of the national game proposed in an attempt to avert future baseball scandals was meeting wide spread approval Saturday. Owners of most major league clubs were expected to announce themselves in favor of a plan commission divorced from financial connection with the game and arrangements were made for a meeting with the minor league managers in November.

SENATORS WIN

PHILADELPHIA—The Senators closed the season at Shibe Park Saturday by taking both games from the Athletics by scores of 7 to 5 and 4 to 3. Both games were marked by erratic playing. TODAY'S GAME IN BRIEF

Contesting teams, Celina vs Lima. Season's Record, Celina Won 14, Lost 1. Season's Record: Lima, Won 14, Lost 8. Batteries: Celina, Westbay and McComb. Batteries: Lima, Pierce and Polison. Umpires: Rizzer and Myers. Game Called, 3 o'clock.

The Celina Base Ball Club with mng Dave Westbay grading the pitcher's mound will invade this city today for the purpose of gathering the scalp of the local team in what promises to be one of the best base ball arguments offered to the followers of the great national game in Lima this season. The Celina aggregation with a record of 14 out of 15 victories to their credit are confident that they can win today's game and even matters with the Lima team for be it known that the lone game lost by the reservoir dwellers was dropped at the local park at the beginning of the season when Westbay pitching for Lima held the heavy hitting forces of the Mercer-co capitol nine to a few scattered hits and altho making the visitors accept the unpleasant experience of defeat earned for himself a bath with that aggregation. He was signed by the Celina management to pitch for that club the remainder of the season.

Westbay with his string of ten straight victories in which he has allowed not more than four hits in any one game, is confident that he can outpitch Walter Pierce and force his former team mates to go down in defeat. The home team is of an opinion different than that fostered by big Dave and the lake town organization and while the Lima team are considerate of the ability of Westbay and the fighting spirit of the opposition, they are nevertheless confident that today's battle will result in their being on the long end of what ever count the score board registers.

Walter Pierce former Lima pitcher and at present the property of the Pittsburgh Nationals is reported to be in the best of shape for today's game and is eager to deliver the brand of pitching that will serve to bring home a win for the home town crew and his former team mates. Polly Polison who made his first appearance in a Lima uniform Sunday will catch today's game.

From advance dope it is gathered that a big crowd of Celina fans will make the journey to Lima for the pastime which is scheduled to commence at 3 o'clock.

OFF WITH RUSH

DANVILLE, Ky.—Centre College's great football team Saturday picked up right where it left off last fall and opened its 1920 season by routing Morris Harvey, 66 to 9. The Morris Harvey players think they scored a moral victory in scoring against Centre. Centre made 28 points in the first quarter, three in the second, 14 in the third and 21 in the fourth. Morris Harvey did not score until the last period.

ANOTHER WIN

NEW YORK—With Brooklyn no longer interested in winning a pennant, the team still put up a strong offense than the Giants who put in a flock of substitutes. The second stringers lost 4 to 2 Robinson gave most of his men a chance to work out in preparation for the world series, but started his regulars.

CENTRAL HIGH WINS WHILE SOUTH MEETS WITH DEFEAT

While Central Hi Saturday afternoon defeated Bowling Green 27 to 7 at Bowling Green, South Hi was beaten by Findlay at Findlay by the score of 31 to 0.

South's defeat is not indicative of poor playing. Coach Jackson declared after the game, as the Findlay eleven weighed an average of 35 pounds per man over the local players.

Their blocking of trick plays of their opponents was a big feature of the game and caused much favorable comment from spectators. Central Hi players made a brilliant start and at no time during the game did they show any signs of weakness.

TOUCHDOWN EARLY
At the kick off Bowling Green fumbled the ball. Hunter, Central's left end recovered it. After two and a quarter minutes of play Mitchell, Central's left half registered a touchdown. Capt. Blunk kicked the goal. Toan Bowling Green fullback, followed with a touchdown. Under their quarterback kicked goal. As a result to the first quarter, Taylor, Central fullback, carried the pigskin to the 20-yard line. Score of first quarter ended 7 to 7.

Central fumbled the ball at the start of the second quarter as Bowling Green did at the opening of the game. Bowling Green recovered it and by a series of trick plays made several gains. Central gained the ball and in throw, Bowling Green intercepted it. Central held Bowling Green on second yard line for downs. They saw-sawed back and forth until the end of the second quarter, with neither team registering scores.

At the opening of the third quarter Central's line strengthened, keeping Bowling Green from making any gains. Central grabbed the ball and by line plunges enabled Taylor, Central fullback to make a touchdown. Bowling Green then got the ball and after a miscalculation fumble Dille, Central right tackle recovered it. A series of line plunges followed, enabling Mitchell to make another scoring play.

touchdown for Central. Capt. Blunk kicked goal. The ball was in the middle of the field when the third quarter ended with Central leading Bowling Green by the score of 20 to 7.

CENTRAL REGAINS BALL

Getting excited at the opening of the fourth and final quarter, Bowling Green again fumbled the ball. Central fumbled also, but followed by intercepting a Bowling Green pass. Taylor Central, then carried the ball for 20 yards. Retroff then grabbed the ball for 17 yards then and for Central. Bowling Green was then returned to within two yards of goal and Blunk made touchdown and kicked for Central, ending the game with Central a 27 to 7 victor.

The locals showed wonderful ability at breaking up trick plays of their opponents, but the overweight of the Findlay gang proved too much for South Hi players.

GOOD GAME PLAYED
Coach Jackson says the score is not indicative of the kind of a game it was, as the culture of ball played was of the kind that is not usually seen in high school games.

It was Findlay's fifth game. Captain Quillen played a good brand of football and his consistency in breaking up plays was one of the big events of the game. Center Miller's ability to play a good game abiding Mitchell to make another scoring play is not questioned.

WHAT ABOUT YOUR CORSET NEEDS?

Perhaps they are difficult to fulfill. You may have hips which are too large, shoulder flesh to be controlled, fulness in the region of the diaphragm—or you may need support over the abdomen. Perhaps you are a very active person and your corsets wear out quickly or else lose those good contours which control your figure.

If you give a corset hard wear, you want a Warner's because it is made to stand unusual strain and still keep its good lines.

We have in stock models in Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets which will take care of all your figure needs, and we shall be happy to advise you about the style which is most suitable for your type.

Every Corset Guaranteed not to Rust, Break or Tear
 Price $2.50 to $10.00

GOOD CLOTHES WILL MAKE HIM QUICKEN HIS STEP TO SCHOOL

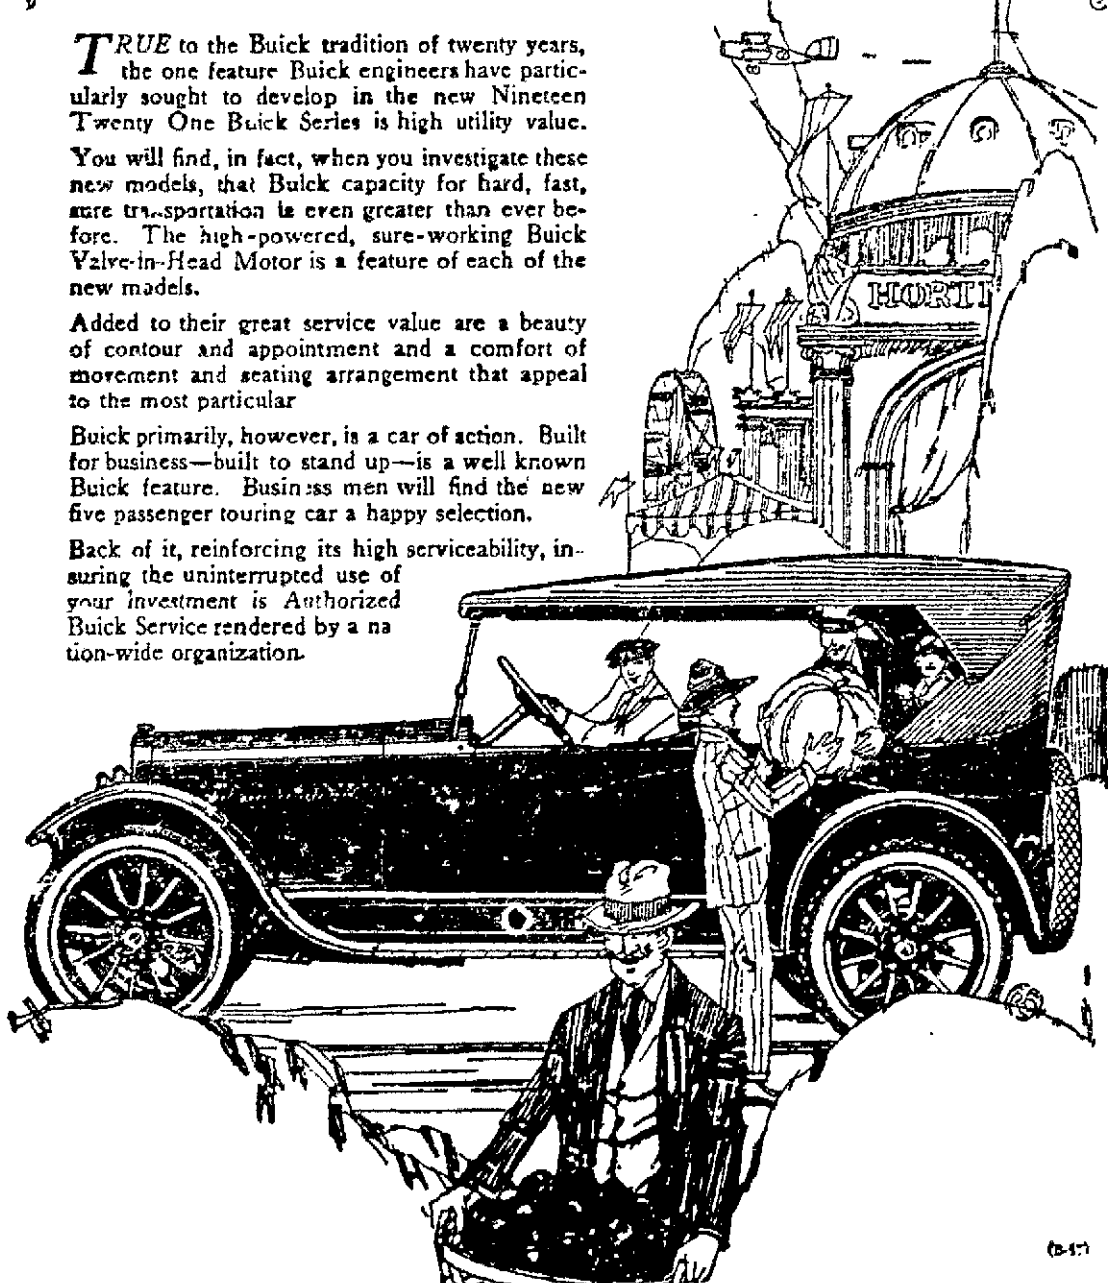

When he gets into one of these smart Suits he is just a bit more anxious to show the other fellows (and maybe the girls,) how spic and spruce he looks.

And yet the style and good appearance is not the principle value feature in these clothes. The biggest thing about them is the way they wear—the real service and economy factors that makes your money so well invested.

BUICK

TRUE to the Buick tradition of twenty years, the one feature Buick engineers have particularly sought to develop in the new Nineteen Twenty One Buick Series is high utility value. You will find, in fact, when you investigate these new models, that Buick capacity for hard, fast, sure transportation is even greater than ever before. The high-powered, sure-working Buick Valve-in-Head Motor is a feature of each of the new models. Added to their great service value are a beauty of contour and appointment and a comfort of movement and seating arrangement that appeal to the most particular. Buick primarily, however, is a car of action. Built for business—built to stand up—is a well known Buick feature. Business men will find the new five passenger touring car a happy selection. Back of it, reinforcing its high serviceability, insuring the uninterrupted use of your investment is Authorized Buick Service rendered by a nationwide organization.

Spouses Designated as Recreant, Charged with Neglect

Gross neglect of duty is charged by three unhappy wives in petitions for divorce filed in the Allen common pleas court Sunday.

Daisy Clapper in asking separation from Allen P. Clapper, who says he deserted her on July 13, 1929 and that since that time she has been compelled to work in stores and factories to support herself and her 17-month-old child, Betty C. Clapper. The couple were married July 12, 1918, according to the petition.

Virginia Turner alleges she was deserted by her husband, Walter Turner, September 1, 1918. They were married in Mississippi, two years ago and have three children according to the petition. Walter Williams and Rebecca Turner, who were married in Toledo, Ohio, January 5, 1917, the petition for divorce is asked.
